Speculation Continues Over Alcorn Successor

MEAD ALCORN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retiring Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn turned today to the business of helping to pick a 1960 national convention site for his party as speculation over a new party chairman continued.

Alcorn, who notified President Eisenhower Wednesday of his intention to quit, had a date to receive in mid-afternoon a Chicago delegation reportedly ready to raise that city's previous cash offer of $300,000 for the convention to $500,000.

Sit in Closed Meeting

Ray C. Bliss, site committee chairman, will join Alcorn for the closed meeting with the Chicago group, now bidding with Philadelphia and New York for the right to play host to the GOP when it nominates a presidential ticket next year.

The site committee will recommend a city and date to the full committee at a meeting here April 10. The full committee will decide the issue the next day.

The same full committee meeting will receive Alcorn's formal resignation as chairman of the national committee. Alcorn told Eisenhower and a news conference Wednesday he has served 26 months in the job without salary at a great financial sacrifice and he must return to his Hartford, Conn., law practice.

Ike Won't Dictate Choice

Alcorn said he hoped the April 11 committee meeting would elect a successor. Eisenhower will have a big say as to who is to be the new chairman, but he told Alcorn, the latter said, he will not dictate a choice.

Alcorn will name a committee of seven, probably next week, to discuss with Eisenhower a list of prospects for the post. He said the President's views of course would have great weight.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, 51, stood out as the likely front runner for the post, although Alcorn said about 25 names have been discussed.

FRONT RUNNER — Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky appears to be a front runner among prospects for job of chairman of the Republican Party National Committee. Meade Alcorn resigned (April 1), effective when the committee picks a successor next week. (AP Wirephoto)

Ellenville Rate Likely to Stay Around $20.36

Mayor Eugene Glusker of Ellenville said today that he does not anticipate any sizeable increase in the tax rate for the coming year. Last year's rate was $20.36 per thousand dollars.

The Ellenville Village Board met Monday night for an informal survey of the budget, which will come up for consideration at a public hearing soon. Mayor Glusker said $7,000 had been allocated to pay the salary of the new village manager. He stated that no fixed salary had been agreed upon.

To Review Applications

Regarding the village manager system, which was voted by the Ellenville residents last January, Mayor Glusker said a dozen applications had been received for the office. He said the

State Insurance Leader Denies Politics Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—State Insurance Superintendent Thomas Thacher says no decision by his department will be made for political purposes.

He denies Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast's charge that the increase in auto liability insurance rates was a Republican campaign payoff.

Thacher, an appointee of Republican Gov. Rockefeller, said Wednesday that the charge was "irresponsible and false."

Based on Fact He Says

The decision to raise the rates, Thacher said, "was based on fact and was made in accordance with the requirements of law."

He added:

"No decision of the insurance department. . .will be made for political purposes or any other purpose than that of serving the general public interest under the standards laid down by the insurance law."

Quotes Letter

Prendergast, in charging a political payoff, quoted a letter which he said was written by the head of an "Insurance Agents for Rockefeller" committee during the campaign last fall.

The Democratic chairman said a letter from Earl S. MacFadden to insurance agents assured them that if Rockefeller was elected, "we have every assurance that. . . the auto insurance problems would be ironed out to the satisfaction of the agents as well as the companies at no hardship to the public."

Airport Is Suggested For City

Initiative Must Be Taken Locally

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency recommends construction of 20 new heliports, a commercial air field and 16 civilian airports in New York State during the next four years.

The facilities would cost $102,526,000.

The agency said Wednesday its recommendations were merely a statement of projected needs and were in no way related to federal airport legislation.

Kingston is listed for a civilian airport.

Initiative for all projects, the FAA said, must be taken by local authorities.

Part of National Plan

"This plan establishes requirements only, recognizing that many of the communities may be unable to raise the necessary funds for construction, or are unwilling to go ahead for other reasons," the FAA said.

The New York recommendations are part of a national plan which would cost $1,285,394,000.

The FAA suggested building of a commercial airfield at Auburn.

Airport Defined

The FAA defined commercial airports as those primarily serving scheduled air carriers. Civilian fields are those serving all types of civil aircraft other than the scheduled carriers, it said.

The latter would include business and commercial flying (both passenger and cargo), air taxis, and industrial operations such as crop dusting, aerial photography and pipeline patrol.

Civilian airports were recommended for Alexandria Bay, Canandaigua, Corning, Hamburg, Hauppauge, Herkimer, Hudson, Huntington, Indian Lake, Kingston, Lockport, Old Forge, Oneonta, Potsdam, Salamanca and Syracuse.

Would Improve All

Practically every airport in the state would come in for some improvement if the FAA suggestions were carried out.

Runways of Buffalo, N. Y., would be extended from 5,645 to 9,800 feet and the airport would be designated intercontinental along with Idlewild. LaGuardia Field would be designated continental with runways of 6,600 feet.

Intercontinental airports are those with runways between 7,501 and 10,500 feet. Continental refers to runways between 6,001 and 7,500 feet.

Governor Issues CC Proclamation

"The Chambers of Commerce are a vital factor, an integral part of the commercial, financial and industrial system of our State. They have been a constant and consistent force not only for stability but also for progress and economic growth."

This was what Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller said today in a proclamation designating April 12 through 18 as Chamber of Commerce Week in New York State.

"One of the highest services they have rendered to the people of the Empire State has come from their traditional and unfaltering belief that economic freedom and political freedom go hand in hand. As the Chambers became strong, their support of this principle became more articulate and more effective.

"In the new challenges that confront us today, in our aspirations to bring about full employment, coupled with equality of opportunity for everybody, without exception and without reservation, the cooperation of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire State will be invaluable.

American Legion Child Welfare Month Is April

The 14 American Legion posts in Ulster County are joining with nearly 17,000 other Legion posts throughout the nation in observance of April as Child Welfare Month.

Purpose of the event is to center community attention on the needs of children and youth, according to Edgar M. Maurer, Commander Ulster County American Legion.

"The American Legion feels that the Nation's 60 million children are its most valuable asset," Commander Maurer said, "and that in every locality there are many things that can and should be done to help youngsters grow physically, mentally, emotionally, and spiritually."

$148 Million Given

Since 1925 the American Legion and its three affiliated organizations (American Legion Auxiliary, Forty and Eight and Eight and Forty) have devoted $148,000,000 to child welfare and related youth work, according to the Legion spokesman. "Most of these expenditures have been by individual posts, such as ours in Ulster County," he said.

In times past, child welfare expenditures were largely for direct help for children of veterans in some emergency situation. However, in recent years there has been a trend to channel a part of the child welfare work into preventive programs aimed at eliminating the causes

Ruling on Milk Fund Due Within Two Weeks

Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing area, said today that he would decide within two weeks whether or not to rule that the proposed fluid milk promotion and research program could go into effect.

Dr. Blanford made the assertion before he attended the last of nine public hearings called to determine the sentiment of dairy farmers regarding the program. The final session of the series was attended by more than 75 farmers at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Sees Farmers Favorable

The market administrator, who was accompanied by his assistant, Kenneth Fober of New York City, said based on preliminary reports of eight previous public meetings, the proposed program appears to be "pretty generally favorable."

Kenneth F. Fee, of Mooers, N. Y., retired director of the Division of Milk Control, New York State Department of Agriculture, presided at the final meeting. He explained the purpose of the session and introduced John B. Holloway, vice president of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, and president of the Mohawk-Schoharie Farm Credit. Holloway also is secretary of the Producers Milk Market Development Board.

Explains Promotion

Holloway read a prepared statement which explained in detail the proposed fluid milk promotion and research program which would be conducted with a $750,000 fund.

Financing of the program would come from dairy farmers who agree voluntarily to contribute one-cent per hundredweight of the milk produced for one year. Any producer could withdraw his support at any time he chooses.

Speaking at length on the proposal, Holloway told the farmer group that a tentative budget of $750,000 would be allocated 70 to 85 per cent to actual market development work, 10 to 20 per cent to research projects and 5 to 10 per cent to administrative costs.

"If the Administration determines that there is substantial opposition to the program among dairymen," Holloway said, "he will rule it cannot go into effect. If, however, Dr. Blanford finds a lack of substantial opposition, he will permit the Producers Milk Market Development Board to launch the program."

Prior to the Kingston meeting, similar sessions have been conducted at Ogdensburg, Watertown, Syracuse, Olean, Binghamton,

Rockefeller Is Urging Restraint For Both Sides

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller urges "political restraint" to improve relationships between New York City and the rest of the state.

He says he means restraint by "Upstate and the city, Republicans and Democrats."

The Republican governor's counsel was expressed to newsmen Wednesday as he arrived at LaGuardia Field from Albany in his family's private plane.

In Answer to Rockefeller

Rockefeller's remarks were in answer to charges by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and other city officials that Rockefeller's administration and the GOP-controlled Legislature have been shortchanging the Democratic city.

Wagner repeated the charges Wednesday in presenting his record-high budget to the board of estimate and city council.

Unfortunate Reaction

Rockefeller said:

"It's unfortunate that officials of the city have reacted the way they have. The big job is to improve the working relationship between the city and the state. This

4 Subjects Basis of Discussion

World Domination Role Called Main Threat to Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the North Atlantic Council today that the Western powers intend to make "concrete and realistic proposals" to the Soviet Union for agreements on disarmament, Germany, European security and outer space.

He said the real need for world peace is that the Communists abandon their "purpose of world domination."

Says Unity Is Life Blood

In a speech prepared for the opening session of the 10th anniversary meeting of the 15-nation alliance, Eisenhower said that though they strive for settlement, the free nations must expect to live in an atmosphere of tension and conflict with the Soviet Union for years.

To meet that test successfully the greatest need of the non-Communist world is unity and unity is "the very life blood of NATO," he said.

Eisenhower was the headline speaker at the opening ceremonial session.

He referred only briefly to the Berlin crisis with which the Allied leaders of North America and Western Europe are preoccupied. The Berlin situation dominates the NATO gathering.

"We shall always open the door of honest discussion—even to those whose creed is world domination," Eisenhower said.

"Our government conducts continuous — almost daily — discussions and negotiations with the Soviet Union. We use regular diplomatic establishments, special committees, organs of the United Nations, and occasional meetings of responsible political leaders.

"No means are overlooked that yield promise of constructive results.

Will Avoid Illusions

"We shall continue these negotiations and discussions. We shall continue to make concrete and realistic proposals for disarmament, for a just solution to the problems of Germany, for European security and for cooperation in the newly opening realm of outer space.

"Although we shall always avoid substituting illusions for reality, we shall continue to strive for a more general and far-reaching, but always practical, settlement of differences with the Soviets.

"The need, as we reach for a lasting peace with justice, is the abandonment of the Communist purpose of world domination.

"We shall never cease to encourage such a change. Meanwhile, we must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviets will be daily experiences. To do this, freedom's greatest requirement is unity — the unity which is the very life blood of NATO."

Speaks of New Dictator

Eisenhower said that after World War II there was momentary hope that "mankind had begun to put aside the weapons of war in favor of the tools of peace."

But, he went on, the development of nuclear weapons meant that war could threaten entire civilizations. Almost simultaneously with the realization of this fact, Eisenhower said, came the rise of a new dictatorship — Soviet communism—with such great power

IBM Lists New Benefits For 61,000 U. S. Employes

NEW YORK — Increased retirement income, and improvements in its major medical and hospitalization plans were announced today by International Business Machines Corporation to its 61,000 United States employes.

The improvements in the company's benefit plans were outlined by IBM President Thomas J. Watson Jr., speaking over a nation-wide telephone hook-up to employes at more than 250 IBM locations throughout the country.

On retirement, IBM employes receive whichever income is greater—an amount computed exclusively on length of service or on length of service and earnings.

Here are examples of how the new increases will affect typical retirement incomes—

For an IBM employe having 35 years service, with average annual earnings of $5,000, monthly retirement income, including social security, is increased from $225 to $256; with $7,000 average annual earnings, from $265 to $290; with $8,000 average annual earnings, from $303 to $328; and with $10,000 average annual earnings, from $379 to $404.

Based on length of service alone, the monthly retirement income for an employe with 10 years of service, for example, is increased from $110 to $156 a month, including social security.

IBM has also revised the length of service requirements under its retirement program. The period of continuous service required in order for an employe to qualify for benefits at age 65 has been reduced from 10 to 5 years. In addition, retirement at age 55 is now possible provided an employe has 15 years of continuous service. Previously, the earliest permissable retirement age was 60, with 20 years of service required.

Under the new plan, employes will receive vested rights to retirement benefits on completion of 15 years continuous service rather than 20 years as before. The manner in which these benefits are computed is also being liberalized.

The proposed changes in the company's retirement plan are subject to approval by stockholders at IBM's annual meeting April 28.

Effective immediately, the required annual deduction under IBM's major medical plan is reduced from $300 to $200. The plan covers 75 per cent of expenses—over $200—incurred by an employe or eligible members of his family, up to a total benefit of $10,000.

In another change, involving both the company's hospitalization and major medical plans, coverage for an employe's unmarried dependent children has been extended from 19 to 23 years of age.

Watson Jr., while pointing out that no company could guarantee full employment for the indefinite future, reiterated IBM's basic goal of continuing the full employment record which it has maintained for a quarter of a century.

He said, "Our incoming order situation has started to improve, and we still have a good backlog. Over all, the situation looks bright."

Maneuver Broadcast Creates M-E Panic

Israel Tries to Calm War Jitters After Routine Notice Implies Mobilization

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The Israeli government worked overtime today to calm new war jitters in the Middle East, caused by a coded broadcast Wednesday night calling up Israeli army reserves.

The army said the announcement should have been a routine notice to three reserve units being called for training maneuvers. But the army said the government radio had broadcast it in a way "likely to create panic in the country and misunderstanding abroad."

Neighboring Syria had immediately ordered all military men on leave back to duty and put five army reserve formations on 24-hour notice. Damascus radio said Syria had taken "all necessary measures to defend herself" in the wake of the Israeli announcement.

Jordan's higher defense council held a late-night emergency meeting and announced it was taking "all necessary measures to protect the Jordan border and security." The communique, broadcast by the government radio in Amman, did not specify what measures were being taken.

Shortly after the Israeli broadcast, which gave the impression of a large-scale mobilization order, Finance Minister Levi Eshkol interrupted a budget debate in Parliament to express the government's regret over the misunderstanding.

Premier David Ben-Gurion, who is also Israel's defense minister, met this morning with heads of the armed services. Afterward a spokesman said the "incorrect version of the army chief of staff's order as broadcast corresponds in no way to the decision or original intention of general headquarters."

Ben-Gurion named a special committee to find out who was responsible for the broadcast.

MEAD ALCORN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retiring Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn turned today to the business of helping to pick a 1960 national convention site for his party as speculation over a new party chairman continued.

Alcorn, who notified President Eisenhower Wednesday of his intention to quit, had a date to receive in mid-afternoon a Chicago delegation reportedly ready to raise that city's previous cash offer of $300,000 for the convention to $500,000.

Sit in Closed Meeting

Ray C. Bliss, site committee chairman, will join Alcorn for the closed meeting with the Chicago group, now bidding with Philadelphia and New York for the right to play host to the GOP when it nominates a presidential ticket next year.

The site committee will recommend a city and date to the full committee at a meeting here April 10. The full committee will decide the issue the next day.

The same full committee meeting will receive Alcorn's formal resignation as chairman of the national committee. Alcorn told Eisenhower and a news conference Wednesday he has served 26 months in the job without salary at a great financial sacrifice and he must return to his Hartford, Conn., law practice.

Ike Won't Dictate Choice

Alcorn said he hoped the April 11 committee meeting would elect a successor. Eisenhower will have a big say as to who is to be the new chairman, but he told Alcorn, the latter said, he will not dictate a choice.

Alcorn will name a committee of seven, probably next week, to discuss with Eisenhower a list of prospects for the post. He said the President's views of course would have great weight.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, 51, stood out as the likely front runner for the post, although Alcorn said about 25 names have been discussed.

State Insurance Leader Denies Politics Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—State Insurance Superintendent Thomas Thacher says no decision by his department will be made for political purposes.

He denies Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast's charge that the increase in auto liability insurance rates was a Republican campaign payoff.

Thacher, an appointee of Republican Gov. Rockefeller, said Wednesday that the charge was "irresponsible and false."

Based on Fact He Says

The decision to raise the rates, Thacher said, "was based on fact and was made in accordance with the requirements of law."

He added:

Finds Most Farmers Agreeable

Ruling on Milk Fund Due Within Two Weeks

Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing area, said today that he would decide within two weeks whether or not to rule that the proposed fluid milk promotion and research program could go into effect.

Dr. Blanford made the assertion before he attended the last of nine public hearings called to determine the sentiment of dairy farmers regarding the program. The final session of the series was attended by more than 75 farmers at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Sees Farmers Favorable

The market administrator, who was accompanied by his assistant, Kenneth Fober of New York City, said based on preliminary reports of eight previous public meetings, the proposed program appears to be "pretty generally favorable."

Kenneth F. Fee, of Mooers, N. Y., retired director of the Division of Milk Control, New York State Department of Agriculture, presided at the final meeting. He explained the purpose of the session and introduced John B. Holloway, vice president of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, and president of the Mohawk-Schoharie Farm Credit. Holloway also is secretary of the Producers Milk Market Development Board.

Explains Promotion

Holloway read a prepared statement which explained in detail the proposed fluid milk promotion and research program which would be conducted with a $750,000 fund.

Financing of the program would come from dairy farmers who agree voluntarily to contribute one-cent per hundredweight of the milk produced for one year. Any producer could withdraw his support at any time he chooses.

Speaking at length on the proposal, Holloway told the farmer group that a tentative budget of $750,000 would be allocated 70 to 85 per cent to actual market development work, 10 to 20 per cent to research projects and 5 to 10 per cent to administrative costs.

"If the Administration determines that there is substantial opposition to the program among dairymen," Holloway said, "he will rule it cannot go into effect. If, however, Dr. Blanford finds a lack of substantial opposition, he will permit the Producers Milk Market Development Board to launch the program."

Prior to the Kingston meeting, similar sessions have been conducted at Ogdensburg, Watertown, Syracuse, Olean, Binghamton,

Rockefeller Is Urging Restraint For Both Sides

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller urges "political restraint" to improve relationships between New York City and the rest of the state.

He says he means restraint by "Upstate and the city, Republicans and Democrats."

The Republican governor's counsel was expressed to newsmen Wednesday as he arrived at LaGuardia Field from Albany in his family's private plane.

In Answer to Rockefeller

Rockefeller's remarks were in answer to charges by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and other city officials that Rockefeller's administration and the GOP-controlled Legislature have been short-changing the Democratic city.

Wagner repeated the charges Wednesday in presenting his record-high budget to the board of estimate and city council.

Unfortunate Reaction

Rockefeller said:

"It's unfortunate that officials of the city have reacted the way they have. The big job is to improve the working relationship between the city and the state. This

4 Subjects Basis of Discussion

World Domination Role Called Main Threat to Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the North Atlantic Council today that the Western powers intend to make "concrete and realistic proposals" to the Soviet Union for agreements on disarmament, Germany, European security and outer space.

He said the real need for world peace is that the Communists abandon their "purpose of world domination."

Says Unity Is Life Blood

In a speech prepared for the opening session of the 10th anniversary meeting of the 15-nation alliance, Eisenhower said that though they strive for settlement, the free nations must expect to live in an atmosphere of tension and conflict with the Soviet Union for years.

To meet that test successfully the greatest need of the non-Communist world is unity and unity is "the very life blood of NATO," he said.

Eisenhower was the headline speaker at the opening ceremonial session.

He referred only briefly to the Berlin crisis with which the Allied leaders of North America and Western Europe are preoccupied.

The Berlin situation dominates the NATO gathering.

"We shall always open the door of honest discussion—even to those whose creed is world domination," Eisenhower said.

"Our government conducts continuous — almost daily — discussions and negotiations with the Soviet Union. We use regular diplomatic establishments, special committees, organs of the United Nations, and occasional meetings of responsible political leaders.

"No means are overlooked that yield promise of constructive results.

Will Avoid Illusions

"We shall continue these negotiations and discussions. We shall continue to make concrete and realistic proposals for disarmament, for a just solution to the problems of Germany, for European security and for cooperation in the newly opening realm of outer space.

"Although we shall always avoid substituting illusions for reality, we shall continue to strive for a more general and far-reaching, but always practical, settlement of differences with the Soviets.

"The need, as we reach for a lasting peace with justice, is the abandonment of the Communist purpose of world domination.

"We shall never cease to encourage such a change. Meanwhile, we must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviets will be daily experiences. To do this, freedom's greatest requirement is unity — the unity which is the very life blood of NATO."

Speaks of New Dictator

Eisenhower said that after World War II there was momentary hope that "mankind had begun to put aside the weapons of war in favor of the tools of peace."

But, he went on, the development of nuclear weapons meant that war could threaten entire civilizations. Almost simultaneously with the realization of this fact, Eisenhower said, came the rise of a new dictatorship — Soviet communism—with such great power

Israel Tries to Calm War Jitters After Routine Notice Implies Mobilization

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) — The Israeli government worked overtime today to calm new war jitters in the Middle East, caused by a coded broadcast Wednesday night calling up Israeli army reserves.

The army said the announcement should have been a routine notice to three reserve units being called for training maneuvers. But the army said the government radio had broadcast it in a way "likely to create panic in the country and misunderstanding abroad."

Neighboring Syria had immediately ordered all military men on leave back to duty and put five army reserve formations on 24-hour notice. Damascus radio said Syria had taken "all necessary measures to defend herself" in the wake of the Israeli announcement.

Jordan's higher defense council held a late-night emergency meeting and announced it was taking "all necessary measures to protect the Jordan border and security." The communique, broadcast by the government radio in Amman, did not specify what measures were being taken.

Shortly after the Israeli broadcast, which gave the impression of a large-scale mobilization order, Finance Minister Levi Eshkol interrupted a budget debate in Parliament to express the government's regret over the misunderstanding.

Premier David Ben-Gurion, who is also Israel's defense minister, met this morning with heads of the armed services. Afterward a spokesman said the "incorrect version of the army chief of staff's order as broadcast corresponds in no way to the decision or original intention of general headquarters."

Ben-Gurion named a special committee to find out who was responsible for the broadcast.

38 Holiday Thruway Travelers Fined $470

A total of 38 holiday travelers on the Thruway in the past three days paid $470 for traffic violations before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of Saugerties.

Most of the violations were for speeding. Others included using improper license plates; improper changing of lanes; driving an unregistered vehicle; failure to comply with signs; operating a vehicle with a defective speed recording device; failure to notify change of address; and U turn on the Thruway.

Judge Myers said that 113 arrests had to be processed through his traffic court during March.

UAW Summons Pickets to Show At Kohler Plant

KOHLER, Wis. (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union summoned its members today to demonstrate that its bitter strike against the Kohler Co.—which began April 5, 1954—"still is very much alive."

The union planned to use the maximum number of pickets permitted under Wisconsin law—25 at each of the sprawling plumbingware factory's five gates — in a parade arranged by striking Local 833.

This, said E. H. Kohlhagen, recording secretary, will be the union's only observance of the anniversary, which falls on Sunday this year. Its purpose, he added, is "to demonstrate only that our strike is still very much alive."

Despite the union's declaration, the general feeling in Kohler and nearby Sheboygan is that the nation's oldest and, at times, most turbulent labor dispute, is just about over.

Certainly, the strike is in a state of arrested development.

Lyman Conger, chief of Kohler's management committee, claims production at the plant is proceeding on a full basis with employment at close to 3,000 "somewhat under prestrike level." When the strike began, the bargaining unit consisted of 3,300.

The union disputes this. Kohlhagen claims a count taken at plant gates three weeks ago showed 2,200 production workers. He acknowledges about 500 of the original 2,600 strikers have returned to work. But he says 2,000 UAW members still are on strike. Most are working at other jobs, here or elsewhere.

Less than 200 still are getting strike benefits from the UAW.

The strike began primarily over the issue of union security but efforts to bring about a settlement have bogged down over the company's refusal to displace workers it has hired since resuming production eight weeks after the start of the strike.

Board Proposes Committee For Study on Town Planning

Woodstock Town Board took its first positive step toward the creation of a town planning board Tuesday night, when it adopted a resolution authorizing the town supervisor to appoint a bi-partisan committee to study the preliminary phases.

Under a motion offered by Councilman Tobie Geertsema (Ind.) and seconded by Supervisor Joseph Fitzsimmons (R.), the latter was empowered to select a committee of not less than three nor more than seven persons to integrate early study and make periodic reports.

The action climaxed several months of debate on the proposal which was first introduced by Councilman Geertsema. When originally presented, Board action resulted in a tie vote, with Councilman John Pike abstaining.

Later it failed to receive a vote because it had not been properly placed on the agenda. A special meeting to act on the resolution failed to achieve a quorum and action was postponed until this week's meeting. Voting for the revised resolution were Supervisor Fitzsimmons, Councilman Geertsema, Justice of the Peace Charles Farley and Dixon McGrath. Councilman Pike was absent because of an out of town commitment.

Van Rijn Is Speaker

J. C. van Rijn, president of Rotron Manufacturing Company and one of the prominent organizers of the Woodstock Association, spoke briefly on the merits of town planning, but cautioned against the Board entering into something too hasitly.

I think we all feel the time has come for something to be done in many areas of the township," he said. He then suggested that Mrs. Geertsema's earlier motions be modified to permit the creation of a commission to study and investigate the facts and report to the Town Board.

Such a move, van Rijn said, would insure that such steps could be taken with more confidence. The commission could study and determine what mandate it could get from the public. He also posed the question of where the right people to do the job would be recruited.

"If we hastily go into it, the wrong kind of people might hurt the project," he concluded.

Abram F. Molyneaux, legal adviser to the Board, suggested that the Board might reopen consideration of the so-called "junk yard ordinance" which had been discussed several months ago. He said the proposal might be considered in a series of executive sessions with meetings to be held on consecutive nights, if necessary.

Call Executive Session

An executive session was declared for Tuesday, April 7 at which time the Board will complete its work of street naming in conjunction with the new post office and carrier service. The sessions would also deal with the preliminary investigation of the planning board.

A suggestion by Town Superintendent of Highways Albert Cashdollar that the members of the Town Board accompany him on an inspection tour of the town's roads was accepted and it was indicated that two such trips might be needed to fully explore the sprawling labyrinth of roads in the township of Woodstock.

A recommendation by Supervisor Fitzsimmons that the Board give some thought to selection of a site for the storage of town equipment was adopted unanimously and the chairman appointed a committee of Councilman Pike and Justices McGrath and Farley to investigate. In offering the resolution, Supervisor Fitzsimmons pointed to the tremendous amount of money invested in highway machinery and other town equipment and said that most of it is stored outdoors.

A motion offered by Justice McGrath and seconded by Councilman Geertsema authorizing the supervisor to pay bills up to $200 without audit was unanimously approved.

Order New Lights

The Board received a letter from Mrs. H. C. Lawson of the Provisional League of Women Voters notifying that members of the League will attend the meetings as observers. Supervisor Fitzsimmons noted that representatives have attended and he welcomed them in behalf of the Board.

Th Board authorized the expenditure of funds to have the present 200 candlepower light at Parnassus Square replaced by one of 600 candlepower at the suggestion of the Central Hudson.

The clerk's report listing cash receipts included the following items: licenses, permits, etc., $98.25; collectors fees, $73.51; general fund, home relief, $27.55; return on insurance premiums, $133.45; recreation fund, $32.69. A series of bills were audited and ordered paid.

Attending the meeting which was one of the quietest in several months were: Supervisor Fitzsimmons, Councilman Geertsema, Justices Farley and McGrath; Marjorie Harder, clerk; and Abram F. Molyneaux, legal adviser.

Democratic Club To Meet Friday

Justice of the Peace Dixon McGrath, who scored a major political upset last fall, will be one of the speakers at Friday night's meeting of the Woodstock Democratic Club.

The election meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the Bearsville Odd Fellows Hall. Kenneth Downer, club president, has announced there will be other speakers.

Sharon Springs Doctor to Undergo Heart Surgery

Dr. Milton O. Kling, 26, of Sharon Springs, who graduated from Albany Medical College in 1958 despite a serious heart defect will undergo open-heart surgery Friday at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Kling also is a graduate of Albany College of Pharmacy, class of 1954.

His parents ask that mail be addressed to him in care of Ryan, 715 Fourth Street, S.E., Rochester, Minn.

Thomas Clausi, 31, East Kingston, was arrested today by County Investigator Arthur H. Doubts Debbie Will Approve Nevada Decree

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Singer Eddie Fisher said today that he and Elizabeth Taylor will marry in Mexico within the next six weeks.

Wednesday night he had said they would wed in Las Vegas if he could get the consent of his former wife, Debbie Reynolds.

But he added later that he had slight hope of getting Miss Reynolds to agree to a Nevada decree. She has obtained a California divorce which will not be final for a year.

Fisher pointed out that he could get a divorce in Mexico without his former wife's consent.

Asked if that means he and raven-haired Miss Taylor would get married in Mexico, Fisher nodded in agreement.

He and Miss Taylor said they have not selected the site for the wedding.

Farmer Reaction Mixed on Paying To Promote Milk

NEWTON, N. J. (AP) — The question: Should dairy farmers contribute a penny a hundredweight of milk sold to create a fund for promotion and research?

The reaction: Mixed.

Cooperative organizations of dairymen supported the proposal at a meeting Wednesday in Sussex County courthouse. Independent dairy farmers were overwhelmingly opposed.

The Producers Milk Market Development Board Inc. had asked the groups to present their views on a one-year trial of the program for fluid milk.

"It should be given a fair trial," said Thomas Lawrence of Hamburg, a spokesman for the United Milk Producers.

"Poor business," said Alex Bodnar, a dairy farmer from Hamburg.

The plan won't work until the farmer has some control over the price of milk, said Charles Hughes of Sussex, another independent dairyman. Other individual dairy farmers felt the cooperatives would dominate the program.

Some of them felt the handlers, who purchase the milk for retail, should pay the assessment rather than the producers.

Supporting the proposal were the Warren County Milk Producers, Sussex County Milk Producers Assn., and the Sussex County Board of Agriculture.

'Noisy Chap' Turns Out to Have Upper Hand

Strong, Bullheaded Khrushchev Shrewdly Pushes His Way to Top

Editor's note—American tradition has its backwoods clodhopper. The Russian equivalent is the muzhik — crude and vulgar but shrewd and strong and bullheaded. Nikita Khrushchev was born a muzhik. Today he displays a veneer of polish but basically he is still the shrewd countryman who knows what he wants and how to get it. This is the fourth of five articles giving an insight into his career.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

There, in the middle of things, bubbled Nikita Khrushchev, jabbing a stubby finger into the chest of his startled listener.

The scene was a British Embassy reception in Moscow in mid-1954. The listener was Clement Attlee, head of Britain's Labor Party.

Stalin, safely mummified, lay in his gaudy Red Square tomb. His lieutenants had faces now. They were individuals. They could talk out in public.

Khrushchev talked and talked, torrents of rapid, often ungrammatical Russian tinged with Ukrainian accent. Through it all his broad, persistent grin exposed two front teeth of glittering gold. His pale blue eyes stared into his hearer's. His pudgy fists would grab the hearer's lapel and hold him captive.

Cultivated, taciturn Georgi Malenkov, who considered himself Stalin's heir, looked on with a superior smile. Few outsiders seemed to take Khrushchev seriously, and some in the Kremlin made the same mistake.

"Noisy chap," muttered Attlee when the talking bout was over.

The first summit meeting still was a year away, but already it may have been in the back of Khrushchev's mind as a device to lull the West. An era of smiles had begun.

Moscow's collective leadership was a mutual protective association to prevent any one man from getting the upper hand. Its first concern was to break the power of Lavrenty Beria, whose army of secret police nearly took over Moscow at the hour of Stalin's death. With the help of Marshal Georgi Zhukov and the army, the collective destroyed Beria and purged the secret police machine.

Takes Party Reins

Stalin's power had derived from control of both party and police. Having pushed Malenkov aside, Khrushchev had the party reins. No single leader had the police to himself. Khrushchev's authority increased. The world began to take more notice of him.

The Kremlin in 1954 was under severe strain. The Korean War was ended, a Stalin gamble which failed. The Indochina War was ending. Moscow hinted it wanted to settle the Austrian occupation problem, too. The Kremlin made extraordinary gestures toward Yugoslavia's Tito, the maverick Communist with whom Stalin feuded.

And the Soviet consumer was promised the world on a platter if he would just be patient.

Explodes Notion

Khrushchev exploded the happy family notion in 1955. He outfoxed Malenkov and required him to step down as premier, confessing himself a failure. Khrushchev installed pliable Nikolai Bulganin as premier — a mere echo of Khrushchev himself.

Thereafter, Khrushchev did the talking. At home he indicated the consumer would have to wait for the promised amenities of life while the U.S.S.R. concentrated on heavy industry to build world power.

Abroad he mixed smiles with threats.

Khrushchev and Bulganin journeyed to Belgrade to get Tito's forgiveness for Stalin's abuse.

Did all this mean the Russians at last planned to relax Communist pressure in the world's trouble spots? Snorted Khrushchev:

Smiling Ghost Fades

"If anyone believes our smiles involve abandoning the teachings of Marx, Engels and Lenin, he deceives himself badly. Those who wait for that will wait until the shrimp learns to whistle."

The West waited in vain for a whistling shrimp. In mid-summer, 1955, Khrushchev got the summit conference he so eagerly sought. Soviet propaganda conjured up a "spirit of Geneva". But that smiling ghost faded away quickly. By autumn Moscow was intruding in the Middle East with arms and propaganda.

Khrushchev and his shadow, Bulganin, went through India and southeast Asia like an amiable bear pawing for honey. Often he shocked his hosts, but he was making powerful propaganda.

"Truth is thorny and prickly for the eyes," thundered proverb loving Khrushchev.

Next: Khrushchev's gospel of Communism.

Disipline Idea Of Paper Firm Blocks Agreement

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A new impasse blocked settlement of the strike at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. plant in Mechanicville today, despite acceptance by union and company officials of mediators' recommendations.

Dean Andrew V. Clements of the Albany Law School, head of a special three-member panel of the State Mediation Board, said attempts to settle the strike broke down Wednesday night.

He said Westvaco announced that, before signing a new contract, it wanted to discipline striking employes it said engaged in violence during picket line disturbances.

The company later offered to submit such disciplinary cases to arbitration.

Improper, Says Union

The United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union balked at the company announcement "as an improper condition to the acceptance" of the contract, Clements said, and suggested the company delay any disciplinary action until after the contract signing.

The union said machinery covering arbitration is included in the new contract.

The plant's 940 production workers walked out Jan. 20 over several issues, which did not include wages.

Clashes Take Place

The dispute has erupted several times into clashes between the strikers, police and salaried employes who have operated paper-making machines.

Picketing ended at the plant March 27 after the company obtained a temporary court order barring such activity. At the request of the mediation panel, Westvaco shut down its plant again. A hearing is to be held on the court order next Monday.

Had to Continue: Harte

Patrick W. Harte, international representative of the union, said the union had no alternative but to continue the strike.

The company, he said, "has proved to the state and to the public that it will refuse to bargain, even on the most reasonable terms."

The latest company action, Harte said, changed the dispute from a strike to a lockout.

George N. Hoover, division manager of the Mechanicville mill, said the union's balk was "not an adequate reason for prolonging this long and wasteful strike."

"The disciplinary action outlined by the company," he said, "is both a necessary and justifiable part of any realistic and lasting settlement."

CHUCKING IT TO KHRUSHCHEV

We shall now quickly see, with the Western notes suggesting both foreign ministers' and summit meetings, whether there is even a small seed of sincerity in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's "peace" proposals for Germany.

The Western agreement on the idea of a summit meeting, assuming some narrowing of differences at the lower level, represents an accommodation to the Russian viewpoint.

Khrushchev wants a summit meeting. We have said that, given reasonable preliminary effort, he can have it.

What we will learn now is whether Khrushchev himself is capable of any kind of accommodation.

He has said a summit parley could discuss only the withdrawal of East and West troops from Berlin, and peace treaties for the two Germanys.

Neither one of these matters can the West properly consider in isolation without conceding legal rights and positions which are fundamental to its whole standing in Western Europe.

Consequently, we have said that any meeting should consider questions relating to Germany, including a peace treaty with Germany and the question of Berlin."

If there is one ounce of honesty in Khrushchev's proposals regarding Berlin and Germany, he must accommodate to this broader agenda.

Should he not do so, it would be the final tipoff that he wants no earnest negotiation, no real settlement, but merely the satisfaction of stirring crises, of scoring propaganda points, of trying for victories that call for complete surrender by the West.

Even if his answer on this count is "no," even if the foreign ministers' gathering proves less than a howling success, we may still decide to go to the summit.

There is good reason to believe we should. We can try to force a broader agenda, to put upon Russia the onus of keeping it selfishly narrowed to its own ends.

Russia holds no veto over our ability to talk, to present our case for a German settlement or a settlement anywhere on earth. This is a chance we should seize as often as we can, at the summit and elsewhere, to demonstrate that the free world is the great repository of positive ideas, of constructive solutions, of genuine effort for peace.

The worst Khrushchev can do is walk out. And if he does, he will leave behind him his claims as the great peacemaker. The world will see him as the "confidence man" he is.

LITTLE CARS' IMPACT

Before the year's end there will be solid indications of how much impact the small car may eventually have on the American economy and way of life. It has already had enough to force the industry's big three into the field.

If the small car is more than a passing fad, if enough motorists consider it the smart buy, highway and civic planners will have to take a second look at freeway, street-widening, traffic and parking patterns now geared to the out-sized car. As to short range effects, some economists predict that when General Motors, Chrysler and Ford bring out their small cars late in the year the resulting buying wave will turn the solid business advance into a boom.

The spring season we are now entering will hike auto sales generally. It always does. Dealers will encounter some resistance from those who want to wait for a look at the big three's small car entries, before deciding, but with incomes at a record level and billions in savings, big cars should not be a drug on the market. This, added to the sale of small cars later, may mean a spectacular auto sales year that would invigorate the entire economy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE COURSE OF EMPIRE

First of all it is necessary to grasp the essence of the Soviet Universal State of which Russia is a part, perhaps the most important part, but which includes many nations and many political parties existing in countries which are antagonistic to Russia. In a word, what World War II accomplished was the erection of a universal empire of enormous manpower and strength but containing a variety of states of varying degrees of self-government, bound together by a dogma which is less economic than sociological.

This Soviet Universal State consists of three ideological elements: on the extreme right, tending more and more to float away from the Kremlin's influence, are Revisionists such as Tito and Nasser who could with Nehru, if he were courageous, form a bloc which might overwhelm those who now control the Kremlin. On the extreme left are the unreconstructed Marxists who accept the leadership of Mao Tze-tung of China. It is important to note that this element is influential in such countries as Poland, Ceylon and Indonesia and has frightened India.

In the center of the Soviet Universal State and dominating it from the Kremlin is Khrushchev's Russia, a curiously governed country with as tight a personal dictatorship as Hitler or Mussolini or Trujillo developed and moving rapidly toward the use of capitalistic devices to develop socialistic processes throughout the world. Anyone who is familiar with primitive Communism, that is, Bolshevism, finds it increasingly difficult to recognize what the personal dictatorships (cult of personality) of Stalin and Khrushchev have done to the ideas of Marx and Lenin. Suffice it that they are not recognizable in present day Russia except in their fundamentals which include atheism as the basis for all philosophic and sociological thinking.

It is this Kremlinized Russia which is the enemy of the United States and which we must understand thoroughly if we are not to be outwitted by Khrushchev at any conference. The first essential factor of political conduct which Khrushchev will require of such a conference will be very different from that which Eisenhower or Macmillan will need.

Eisenhower's basic political problem will be how his conduct will affect his country without any regard to his own political future, as he has none. Macmillan must consider Labour Party opposition to him, particularly as war is not popular, the British having had their fill of it. In a word, in what are called democratic countries, public opinion must be taken into account, selfishly or patriotically.

Khrushchev does not face that problem, but he does face another. He dare not ignore the Leftist Deviationists, that is, the Red Chinese. Mao Tze-tung represents orthodox Marxism-Leninism and there are many important Communists throughout the world, even in Soviet Russia, who hold with Mao and not with Khrushchev. It is therefore necessary for the Kremlin boss to produce satisfying victories if he is not to be decapitated or exiled as his predecessors and associates have been.

As an aside, I might mention that of 27 Bolshevik members of the Politburo, that is from those who emerged to leadership out of the original revolution, seven are reported to have died; eight were murdered or executed; three were exiled; three disappeared; one committed suicide; the remainder are presumably alive. Since 1917, there have been only three effective heads of the Communist Party which controls the government: Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev. Khrushchev and Mikoyan are relatively new figures in the Soviet hierarchy, the former being chosen for the Politburo in 1939, the latter in 1935. No one who was on the Politburo in 1917 is alive today.

Khrushchev and his intimate, Mikoyan, represent an opportunistic, pragmatic program which can go anywhere. No one can prognosticate what opportunism will lead to, particularly as Khrushchev can make uncontrolled decisions and has proved that he can dismiss anyone in Russia. However, he cannot dismiss Mao or Tito or Nasser and therefore they have established themselves as disturbing factors in his situation. On one or two occasions, Khrushchev came close to attacking Mao's orthodoxy, but he always receded from an overt quarrel with Mao.

In the face of all this, a Summit Conference presents numerous psychological as well as political difficulties. Khrushchev dare not fail; he dare not sacrifice Mao; he dare not leave the conference without giving the impression that he has outwitted Eisenhower and Macmillan. But can he outwit de Gaulle and Adenauer?

'Forgotten' Years Are Very Important Ones to Children

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

We parents often have a hard time understanding our children. I suspect that children do a better job in understanding us. Perhaps that is the reason so much more is written for grown-ups about how to get along with their children than for children about how to get along with their parents.

One period of youth, namely that between nursery age and adolescence, has been called the forgotten years of childhood. It is easier perhaps for parents to discipline or run their children at these ages than it is later on, but the thoughts and emotions from approximately 6 to 12 remain difficult for most adults.

The attractive early years, when the words of parents were accepted by their youngsters without question, have passed, but the grown-up approach to life and its problems has certainly not yet been reached.

One of the difficulties in dealing with youngsters of these ages is that it is so hard for the parents to think back to these years themselves and remember how they felt and acted at the same age. True, most of us can remember something if we try but the effort is seldom made.

Can you remember a party given when you were 8 years old to which you were not invited or at which you had a very bad time?

Do you recall the feelings of triumph or tragedy which accompanied success socially, in the classroom or on the athletic field?

If you can do these things you will have made a close approach to the feelings of your children and to their trials, failures and successes.

Friends of the same age are every bit as important to the 8-year-old as they are later on. In fact, in many ways, they are more important because one has not learned at that age that human contacts with others come and go with life.

The rules and regulations of parents and teachers are often particularly hard to understand.

At the age of 6, death and injury seem entirely unreal and as something that could not possibly happen to oneself. Hence, the warning to be careful crossing the street and similar instructions from grownups seem merely adding to the confining and senseless rules which are always interfering with fun.

In short, the youngster between 6 and 12—and in older and younger years too—is a real person with normal reactions so far as his own experiences are concerned. The ones who do not have normal reactions in the eyes of the children are the grownups.

Every parent and teacher should understand this and operate their relationships with the youths under their direction accordingly.

An excellent pamphlet on this subject, called "Understand Your Child—From Six to Twelve," has been published by the nonprofit Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 28th Street, New York 16, N. Y. It costs 25 cents.

Washington News

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In connection with the forthcoming meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers, May 11, to prepare for the summit conference on the German situation later in the summer, somebody should write a book on the history of these 16-year-old, exclusive debating societies.

There is no good critical analysis of their work. Not even the U. S. State Department has a worthwhile summary of their problems, potential, successes, weaknesses and failures.

There are the official communiques issued at the end of every session and there are brief accounts in the annual reports of international conferences. But the inside stories of what went on, and interpretations, are lacking.

The Council of Foreign Ministers could be a great force for world peace. To the extent that it might try to dictate to smaller powers, it would be suspect. But if it could confine itself to solving the differences between the big powers, it might be more effective insurance against World War III.

AS REVIEWED IN A PREVIOUS dispatch, there were five or nine CFM meetings—depending on how you count them—in which the Russians took part from 1943 through 1947.

They paved the way for the UN. They approved peace treaties with five of the smaller Axis powers. Where they failed was in making peace with Japan, Austria and Germany. The first two had to be negotiated separately. Germany is still the principal business of summit and CFM.

What is listed officially as the sixth CFM meeting was held in Paris May 23-June 20, 1949. Dean Acheson had become secretary of state. The Council was convened to work on German and Austrian peace treaties, after the breakdown of these negotiations in London in 1947. It failed again.

In April 1949, America, Britain and France had merged their three zones of occupation in Germany. The German Federal Republic (West Germany) was established, its constitution adopted and elections held later that year.

TO COUNTER THESE MOVES the Russians proposed CFM meetings on German demilitarization in June 1950. There were four-power exploratory talks of deputies in Paris March 4-June 21, 1951. But the three western powers finally decided that another foreign minister's meeting would be useless.

The Russians made another proposal for a CFM meeting to be held in Washington in July, 1951, but it was rejected.

So the next CFM session—officially the seventh—was held in Berlin, Jan. 25-Feb. 18, 1954, with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles taking over. Again the foreign ministers were unable to reach agreement on Austria and Germany. But they did agree to hold a Far East peace parley, to be attended by Communist China.

This was the Geneva conference of April 26-July 21, 1954. It resulted in a cease fire in Indochina and a division of Communist North and South Viet Nam. But the United States did not sign this settlement, not being a belligerent.

Two further meetings of western foreign ministers in London and Paris during the fall of 1954 brought agreement to take West Germany into NATO, to keep allied forces in Germany, to end military occupation and to grant the Federal Republic of Germany full sovereignty.

The fourth summit conference in Geneva in July, 1955, led to the eighth CFM, also in Geneva, Oct. 27-Nov. 16, 1955.

GOING BACK ON THEIR agreement to reunify Germany through free elections, the Russians came in with their same old proposals: Abolish NATO, disarm Germany, withdraw all foreign troops in Europe and sign a general treaty on collective European security, prior to unifications of Germany.

The western powers countered with the Eden plan for creating a stronger, unified free Germany.

There was no possibility of reaching an agreement on these conflicting viewpoints. So the conference ended in failure, with an announcement that future discussiosn should be through diplomatic channels.

In the three and a half years since that time, there have been no diplomatic discussions. There have been only repeated Communist demands for new summit conferences.

That is where matters stood when Russia's Chairman Nikita Khrushchev recently agreed to another CFM session—officially the ninth—prior to this summer's summit talks.

No Way Is Seen to Avoid Some 'Conflict of Interest'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Stephen Young, D., Ohio, decided to sell or publicize approximately $234,000 worth of stockholdings, he may have thought this would remove any possibility of a so-called "conflict of interest." But today a Senator votes on all kinds of financial questions and, even though all his holdings were in government bonds, some one could conjure up a "conflict of interest."

Thus, if any Senator votes to unbalance the budget, it could produce apathy on the part of the investor toward the purchase of government bonds. This might necessitate a steadily increasing interest rate which could benefit the Senator just as much as, if not more than, dividends on some private stocks.

There is scarcely a problem that comes before the Senate for a vote that isn't directly or indirectly related to a man's own finances.

But the case of Sen. Young relates to stockholdings in particular industries, like oil and sugar, where concrete questions have arisen that may have to be voted on—whether to retain the present tax allowance in connection with the depletion of oil and gas properties and whether to limit imports of sugar.

Sen. Young says he has been receiving letters and circulars urging him to vote to retain the 27½ per cent depletion rate but that he favors cutting the allowance to 15 per cent, and voted that way when he was a member of the House of Representatives. Does this, however, dispose of the matter? Will it be accepted by everybody that the Senator is voting his convictions now, or will it be said that he is merely trying to overcome the alleged ill effects of his continued ownership of oil stocks?

So far as the Democratic party is concerned, many of its spokesmen have continuously attacked bigness in business and the wealth of individuals as being the "image" of a Republican and not of a Democrat. The campaign literature of the Democrats constantly stresses that the Democrats are a "poor man's party" and that the Republicans are a "rich man's party." Mere accumulation of money, even though the result of thrift and honest work, seems to be a sin today in the eyes of many Democratic stump speakers and of many writers and publications called "liberal."

What is tragic, of course, is that a United States Senator should feel it incumbent upon himself to sell or publicize any of his private stockholdings just because of a theoretical "conflict of interest." This is based evidently on the mistaken assumption that a Senator cannot hold securities and still vote conscientiously without incurring public disfavor.

Adams Case Noted

In free America the axiom is that a man's innocence is presumed until he is proved guilty. But, while this may be the rule in courts of law, it apparently is being disregarded in the court of public opinion. Suspicion seems to be the guiding influence. Thus Sherman Adams committed no crime, and nobody could prove that , when he made a routine inquiry, this was the direct or indirect result of favors he had received from a citizen outside the government. Yet he was condemned widely, and particularly by the Democrats. They began to make a campaign issue out of it, thus forcing the resignation of Mr. Adams, who of course, recognized finally, though reluctantly, that in politics the rule of suspicion supercedes all else.

The action of Sen. Young pays tribute to the power of suspicion and inuendo in politics. The Ohio Senator felt that, to be four-square with his constituents, he had to reveal the nature of his wealth. How many voters, on the other hand, especially among the radicals now in the Democratic party, will be disturbed that any Senator has so much money? Though the individual used to be exalted for his own enterprise and was rarely condemned for the mere possession of inherited wealth, there has been a change in recent years. The trend of the agitation is toward socialism and a redistribution of wealth in some form of "equality." Many men of inherited wealth in the Senate and elsewhere have exhibited a kind of "guilt complex" and have in some instances transformed themselves into so-called "liberals" so as to make it appear that their wealth wasn't influencing them. They have often criticized the same conservative doctrines which enabled their parents in free America to amass a fortune.

It's too bad that any man in public life feels he must cater to suspicion in order to stay in politics. It's too bad that a rich man in politics thinks he can prove his virtue only by attacking wealth or by selling all his holdings and converting them into cash so as to avoid every possible "conflict of interest." Even so, the purchasing power of his cash can depreciate if the Democratic party supports a spending spree. There's really no way to avoid some "conflict of interest" today if any man successful in his previous occupation enters public.

CHUCKING IT TO KHRUSHCHEV

We shall now quickly see, with the Western notes suggesting both foreign ministers' and summit meetings, whether there is even a small seed of sincerity in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's "peace" proposals for Germany.

The Western agreement on the idea of a summit meeting, assuming some narrowing of differences at the lower level, represents an accommodation to the Russian viewpoint.

Khrushchev wants a summit meeting. We have said that, given reasonable preliminary effort, he can have it.

What we will learn now is whether Khrushchev himself is capable of any kind of accommodation.

He has said a summit parley could discuss only the withdrawal of East and West troops from Berlin, and peace treaties for the two Germanys.

Neither one of these matters can the West properly consider in isolation without conceding legal rights and positions which are fundamental to its whole standing in Western Europe.

Consequently, we have said that any meeting should consider questions relating to Germany, including a peace treaty with Germany and the question of Berlin."

If there is one ounce of honesty in Khrushchev's proposals regarding Berlin and Germany, he must accommodate to this broader agenda.

Should he not do so, it would be the final tipoff that he wants no earnest negotiation, no real settlement, but merely the satisfaction of stirring crises, of scoring propaganda points, of trying for victories that call for complete surrender by the West.

Even if his answer on this count is "no," even if the foreign ministers' gathering proves less than a howling success, we may still decide to go to the summit.

There is good reason to believe we should. We can try to force a broader agenda, to put upon Russia the onus of keeping it selfishly narrowed to its own ends.

Russia holds no veto over our ability to talk, to present our case for a German settlement or a settlement anywhere on earth. This is a chance we should seize as often as we can, at the summit and elsewhere, to demonstrate that the free world is the great repository of positive ideas, of constructive solutions, of genuine effort for peace.

The worst Khrushchev can do is walk out. And if he does, he will leave behind him his claims as the great peacemaker. The world will see him as the "confidence man" he is.

LITTLE CARS' IMPACT

Before the year's end there will be solid indications of how much impact the small car may eventually have on the American economy and way of life. It has already had enough to force the industry's big three into the field.

If the small car is more than a passing fad, if enough motorists consider it the smart buy, highway and civic planners will have to take a second look at freeway, street-widening, traffic and parking patterns now geared to the out-sized car. As to short range effects, some economists predict that when General Motors, Chrysler and Ford bring out their small cars late in the year the resulting buying wave will turn the solid business advance into a boom.

The spring season we are now entering will hike auto sales generally. It always does. Dealers will encounter some resistance from those who want to wait for a look at the big three's small car entries, before deciding, but with incomes at a record level and billions in savings, big cars should not be a drug on the market. This, added to the sale of small cars later, may mean a spectacular auto sales year that would invigorate the entire economy.

'These Days'

THE COURSE OF EMPIRE

First of all it is necessary to grasp the essence of the Soviet Universal State of which Russia is a part, perhaps the most important part, but which includes many nations and many political parties existing in countries which are antagonistic to Russia. In a word, what World War II accomplished was the erection of a universal empire of enormous manpower and strength but containing a variety of states of varying degrees of self-government, bound together by a dogma which is less economic than sociological.

This Soviet Universal State consists of three ideological elements: on the extreme right, tending more and more to float away from the Kremlin's influence, are Revisionists such as Tito and Nasser who could with Nehru, if he were courageous, form a bloc which might overwhelm those who now control the Kremlin. On the extreme left are the unreconstructed Marxists who accept the leadership of Mao Tze-tung of China. It is important to note that this element is influential in such countries as Poland, Ceylon and Indonesia and has frightened India.

In the center of the Soviet Universal State and dominating it from the Kremlin is Khrushchev's Russia, a curiously governed country with as tight a personal dictatorship as Hitler or Mussolini or Trujillo developed and moving rapidly toward the use of capitalistic devices to develop socialistic processes throughout the world. Anyone who is familiar with primitive Communism, that is, Bolshevism, finds it increasingly difficult to recognize what the personal dictatorships (cult of personality) of Stalin and Khrushchev have done to the ideas of Marx and Lenin. Suffice it that they are not recognizable in present day Russia except in their fundamentals which include atheism as the basis for all philosophic and sociological thinking.

It is this Kremlinized Russia which is the enemy of the United States and which we must understand thoroughly if we are not to be outwitted by Khrushchev at any conference. The first essential factor of political conduct which Khrushchev will require of such a conference will be very different from that which Eisenhower or Macmillan will need.

Eisenhower's basic political problem will be how his conduct will affect his country without any regard to his own political future, as he has none. Macmillan must consider Labour Party opposition to him, particularly as war is not popular, the British having had their fill of it. In a word, in what are called democratic countries, public opinion must be taken into account, selfishly or patriotically.

Khrushchev does not face that problem, but he does face another. He dare not ignore the Leftist Deviationists, that is, the Red Chinese. Mao Tze-tung represents orthodox Marxism-Leninism and there are many important Communists throughout the world, even in Soviet Russia, who hold with Mao and not with Khrushchev. It is therefore necessary for the Kremlin boss to produce satisfying victories if he is not to be decapitated or exiled as his predecessors and associates have been.

As an aside, I might mention that of 27 Bolshevik members of the Politburo, that is from those who emerged to leadership out of the original revolution, seven are reported to have died; eight were murdered or executed; three were exiled; three disappeared; one committed suicide; the remainder are presumably alive. On one or two occasions, Khrushchev came close to attacking Mao's orthodoxy, but he always receded from an overt quarrel with Mao.

In the face of all this, a Summit Conference presents numerous psychological as well as political difficulties. Khrushchev dare not fail; he dare not sacrifice Mao; he dare not leave the conference without giving the impression that he has outwitted Eisenhower and Macmillan. But can he outwit de Gaulle and Adenauer?

What is listed officially as the sixth CFM meeting was held in Paris May 23-June 20, 1949. Dean Acheson had become secretary of state. The Council was convened to work on German and Austrian peace treaties, after the breakdown of these negotiations in London in 1947. It failed again.

In April 1949, America, Britain and France had merged their three zones of occupation in Germany. The German Federal Republic (West Germany) was established, its constitution adopted and elections held later that year.

TO COUNTER THESE MOVES the Russians proposed CFM meetings on German demilitarization in June 1950. There were four-power exploratory talks of deputies in Paris March 4-June 21, 1951. But the three western powers finally decided that another foreign minister's meeting would be useless.

The Russians made another proposal for a CFM meeting to be held in Washington in July, 1951, but it was rejected.

So the next CFM session—officially the seventh—was held in Berlin, Jan. 25-Feb. 18, 1954, with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles taking over. Again the foreign ministers were unable to reach agreement on Austria and Germany. But they did agree to hold a Far East peace parley, to be attended by Communist China.

This was the Geneva conference of April 26-July 21, 1954. It resulted in a cease fire in Indochina and a division of Communist North and South Viet Nam. But the United States did not sign this settlement, not being a belligerent.

Two further meetings of western foreign ministers in London and Paris during the fall of 1954 brought agreement to take West Germany into NATO, to keep allied forces in Germany, to end military occupation and to grant the Federal Republic of Germany full sovereignty.

The fourth summit conference in Geneva in July, 1955, led to the eighth CFM, also in Geneva, Oct. 27-Nov. 16, 1955.

GOING BACK ON THEIR agreement to reunify Germany through free elections, the Russians came in with their same old proposals: Abolish NATO, disarm Germany, withdraw all foreign troops in Europe and sign a general treaty on collective European security, prior to unifications of Germany.

The western powers countered with the Eden plan for creating a stronger, unified free Germany.

There was no possibility of reaching an agreement on these conflicting viewpoints. So the conference ended in failure, with an announcement that future discussiosn should be through diplomatic channels.

In the three and a half years since that time, there have been no diplomatic discussions. There have been only repeated Communist demands for new summit conferences.

That is where matters stood when Russia's Chairman Nikita Khrushchev recently agreed to another CFM session—officially the ninth—prior to this summer's summit talks.

No Way Is Seen to Avoid Some 'Conflict of Interest'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Stephen Young, D., Ohio, decided to sell or publicize approximately $234,000 worth of stockholdings, he may have thought this would remove any possibility of a so-called "conflict of interest." But today a Senator votes on all kinds of financial questions and, even though all his holdings were in government bonds, some one could conjure up a "conflict of interest."

Thus, if any Senator votes to unbalance the budget, it could produce apathy on the part of the investor toward the purchase of government bonds. This might necessitate a steadily increasing interest rate which could benefit the Senator just as much as, if not more than, dividends on some private stocks.

There is scarcely a problem that comes before the Senate for a vote that isn't directly or indirectly related to a man's own finances.

But the case of Sen. Young relates to stockholdings in particular industries, like oil and sugar, where concrete questions have arisen that may have to be voted on—whether to retain the present tax allowance in connection with the depletion of oil and gas properties and whether to limit imports of sugar.

Sen. Young says he has been receiving letters and circulars urging him to vote to retain the 27½ per cent depletion rate but that he favors cutting the allowance to 15 per cent, and voted that way when he was a member of the House of Representatives. Does this, however, dispose of the matter? Will it be accepted by everybody that the Senator is voting his convictions now, or will it be said that he is merely trying to overcome the alleged ill effects of his continued ownership of oil stocks?

So far as the Democratic party is concerned, many of its spokesmen have continuously attacked bigness in business and the wealth of individuals as being the "image" of a Republican and not of a Democrat. The campaign literature of the Democrats constantly stresses that the Democrats are a "poor man's party" and that the Republicans are a "rich man's party." Mere accumulation of money, even though the result of thrift and honest work, seems to be a sin today in the eyes of many Democratic stump speakers and of many writers and publications called "liberal."

What is tragic, of course, is that a United States Senator should feel it incumbent upon himself to sell or publicize any of his private stockholdings just because of a theoretical "conflict of interest." This is based evidently on the mistaken assumption that a Senator cannot hold securities and still vote conscientiously without incurring public disfavor.

Adams Case Noted

In free America the axiom is that a man's innocence is presumed until he is proved guilty. But, while this may be the rule in courts of law, it apparently is being disregarded in the court of public opinion. Suspicion seems to be the guiding influence. Thus Sherman Adams committed no crime, and nobody could prove that , when he made a routine inquiry, this was the direct or indirect result of favors he had received from a citizen outside the government. Yet he was condemned widely, and particularly by the Democrats. They began to make a campaign issue out of it, thus forcing the resignation of Mr. Adams, who of course, recognized finally, though reluctantly, that in politics the rule of suspicion supercedes all else.

The action of Sen. Young pays tribute to the power of suspicion and inuendo in politics. The Ohio Senator felt that, to be four-square with his constituents, he had to reveal the nature of his wealth. How many voters, on the other hand, especially among the radicals now in the Democratic party, will be disturbed that any Senator has so much money? Though the individual used to be exalted for his own enterprise and was rarely condemned for the mere possession of inherited wealth, there has been a change in recent years. The trend of the agitation is toward socialism and a redistribution of wealth in some form of "equality." Many men of inherited wealth in the Senate and elsewhere have exhibited a kind of "guilt complex" and have in some instances transformed themselves into so-called "liberals" so as to make it appear that their wealth wasn't influencing them. They have often criticized the same conservative doctrines which enabled their parents in free America to amass a fortune.

It's too bad that any man in public life feels he must cater to suspicion in order to stay in politics. It's too bad that a rich man in politics thinks he can prove his virtue only by attacking wealth or by selling all his holdings and converting them into cash so as to avoid every possible "conflict of interest." Even so, the purchasing power of his cash can depreciate if the Democratic party supports a spending spree. There's really no way to avoid some "conflict of interest" today if any man successful in his previous occupation enters public.

Once Rifton Resident Will Get Mission Cross April 5

REV. ANTHONY ASHCROFT

More than a quarter of a century ago Anthony Ashcroft was a pupil at Rifton School and his teacher was Mrs. George Hooker of Kingston.

Today the former Rifton School pupil is the Rev. Anthony Ashcroft OSB of St. Paul's Abbey at Newton, N. J. Sunday night, April 5, he will receive his mission cross at a solemn departure ceremony in the Abbey Church. The Right Rev. Charles V. Coriston, OSB will make the presentation.

The Most Rev. James A. McNulty, Bishop of Paterson will preach the sermon at the service which will begin at 7 p. m. with Solemn Compline.

Talks With Teacher

On a recent visit to Kingston, Father Anthony visited relatives and friends and also Mrs. Hooker, to bid them goodbye. He had not seen his former teacher since she taught him more than 25 years ago.

Father Anthony, a native of Brooklyn, is a son of the late Henry and Elizabeth Ashcroft former Rifton residents. He attended Rifton school and Kingston High School and was a member of St. Peter's Parish at Rosendale.

Ordained in 1945

Father Anthony took his first vows as a Benedictine missionary on Sept. 7, 1940, and was ordained to the priesthood on July 1, 1945. He is a graduate of Seton Hall and holds the AB and MA degrees from that university. He also holds a degree in theology from the University of Ottawa, Canada.

In addition to his duties as prior, Father Anthony has served as rector of Benedictine Mission Seminary at Newton, N. J., and as director of the Queen of Peace House, which is conducted by the monks of St. Paul's Abbey.

Father Anthony has been assigned to the Abbey Nullius of Ndanda, Tanganyika territory, British East Africa.

Traditional Rite

The departure ceremony is the traditional monastic rite at which the new missionary receives his official assignment to a foreign country where he is sent out to preach the gospel.

The form of the departure ceremony is strikingly similar to that of the Mass, since it features a collect-prayer, a reading from the gospel, a profession of faith in the recitation of the Apostles' creed, and a preface, or solemn prayer of thanksgiving.

The monastic departure ceremony is thus reminiscent of the devotional "Dry Mass" practiced by the monks of medieval Europe. The rite reaches its climax when the missionary's mission cross is presented to him by his Abbot, who recites the words, "Receive the sign of the Cross of Christ, who has suffered and risen that you may have a share with Him."

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller may ask New York State residents to accept fewer state services to avoid future tax increases, such as the record boost of 239 million dollars levied this year.

The Republican governor has directed a far-reaching study of state aid to localities — a mammoth item that accounts for more than half of the state's two-billion-dollar budget.

Aid Trimming Possible

Rockefeller said the study would determine whether the aid programs were being handled properly.

The governor would not say whether he favored increasing or decreasing state aid.

But against the background of his continuing call for economy and efficiency in government, his social welfare, $97,000,000 for general municipal purposes, $66,700,000 for highways and other public works and $43,800,000 for health and mental health.

By contrast, the Rockefeller budget allocates 675 million for all state government operations. The balance of nearly 300 million will be used for capital construction.

State aid is distributed accordstatement is grist for speculation that he might be seeking ways to trim the aid program.

In the program, the state collects income, corporate and other taxes from residents of communities throughout the state and then returns the funds to those communities in specific grants.

Most for Education

Rockefeller's budget contained an appropriation of $1,051,000,000 for state aid in the fiscal year that began Wednesday.

The biggest item was $634,600,000 for aid to education. Other major items were $160,500,000 for ing to formulas in laws passed by the Legislature. Most school aid is keyed to enrollments. Thus, the continuing increase in school populations has meant a continuing increase in aid to education.

More Aid Sought

There are constant demands from the Board of Regents and other education agencies for still more aid.

In addition there are constant appeals from New York City for more state help. They seldom have been more plaintive than they were this year. Welfare costs keep rising.

On the other side of the controversy, taxpayers say they are pushed to the limit, that they can no longer absorb tax increases without cutting back their standard of living.

The Rockefeller administration will be set on from both sides as it explores the aid issue.

Politicians, even some who preach economy the loudiest, will not look kindly on any plan to cut the amount of state aid their communities receive. A cutback could mean higher local taxes.

But few taxpayers will volunteer support of a system that automatically raises state spending every year.

New York State may see in the next few years a repeat performance of 1959's famed Battle of the Budget, with state aid, rather than taxes, at the center of the fight.

Grace Faces Knife

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) —Princess Grace of Monaco will be under the knife only six or seven minutes during her appendectomy, her Philadelphia surgeon says.

Dr. James B. Lehman said he would perform the operation with the assistance of a Lausanne surgeon, Dr. Jean-David Buffat, in a local clinic "one of these days, this week, possibly the next."

He said the former Hollywood movie star suffered from appendicitis "and nothing else." He said she has recently had several minor appendicitis attacks and "removal of the organ is the only possible treatment." She suffers no pain and is in excellent health, Dr. Lehman added.

More Charges Are Likely Today in Death of Miner

BARBOURVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two high-ranking state police officials indicated more charges might be placed today in the slaying of a mine operator in the strike-bound eastern Kentucky coal fields.

Public Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill and Maj. James W. Hughes, a state police executive director, said a continuing court of inquiry was expected to produce additional charges.

Three United Mine Workers of America pickets were charged with murder Wednesday in the death of Woodrow Smith, 42.

They were: John Henry Warran, 32, Arjay, who signed a statement saying he shot Smith in self-defense Tuesday near Smith's mine at Stinking Creek.

Bailey Perry, 27, Straight Creek.

Fred Gregory, 21, Four Mile. He denied any part in the shooting.

Smith's mine had been picketed two days before the shooting.

The UMW wants miners' daily pay raised to $24.25 a day, an increase of $2 over the old contract. The strike began March 9 in Harlan County and has spread over a seven-county area.

More Charges Are Likely Today in Death of Miner

BARBOURVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two high-ranking state police officials indicated more charges might be placed today in the slaying of a mine operator in the strike-bound eastern Kentucky coal fields.

Public Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill and Maj. James W. Hughes, a state police executive director, said a continuing court of inquiry was expected to produce additional charges.

Three United Mine Workers of America pickets were charged with murder Wednesday in the death of Woodrow Smith, 42.

They were: John Henry Warran, 32, Arjay, who signed a statement saying he shot Smith in self-defense Tuesday near Smith's mine at Stinking Creek.

Bailey Perry, 27, Straight Creek.

Fred Gregory, 21, Four Mile. He denied any part in the shooting.

Smith's mine had been picketed two days before the shooting.

The UMW wants miners' daily pay raised to $24.25 a day, an increase of $2 over the old contract. The strike began March 9 in Harlan County and has spread over a seven-county area.

Probe of Mexico Railroad Strike Bares Red Plot

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Investigation of the Easter rail strike has uncovered a Communist plot to upset Mexico's social order by a chain of strikes in key industries, informed sources said today.

More than 300 confessions from strikers in the holiday rail tieup reportedly revealed the sweeping goal of Red agitators.

The Mexican government has linked two Soviet Embassy officials with the plot and ordered them to get out of the country Friday.

A reliable Mexican source said the Soviet Embassy gave one million pesos—about $80,000—to strike agitators. Secret police trailing a leftist union leader seized the cash.

Train service meanwhile is gradually getting back to normal. There are still pockets of resistance.

In Jalapa, an important rail junction 150 miles east of Mexico City, more than 300 women demonstrated Wednesday for the release of Demetrio Vallejo, jailed head of the Railway Workers Union.

Vallejo was rounded up with an estimated 3,000 other union leaders and rail workers when the government moved to break the strike. Most of the others have been freed.

Work Is Underway On World's First Mechanized PO

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Giant earth-moving machines were massed on a 14-acre site today to start construction of the world's first fully mechanized post office.

Just 18 months from now, according to present plans, postal workers will step into a two-blocks-long building filled with a complex of conveyors, chutes, vibrating trays, photoelectric scanning cells, vacuum feeds and automatic stamp detectors.

The 20-million-dollar push-button plant not only will serve Rhode Island and southern New England, but also will be a laboratory for developing future automation post offices.

A subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., will build and equip the revolutionary postal-laboratory post office. After its completion in September 1960, the subsidiary, Intelex Systems Inc., New York, will lease the plant to the Post Office Department.

The building will cover more than three acres of its site adjoining rail facilities. It will have a landing port for helicopters. It will be 20 minutes from an airport. It will be served by an express highway.

Area Grist Mill Open to Public For H-C Fete

NEW PALTZ—As part of the program of the Year of History in New York State, and the Hudson-Champlain celebration, the Old Mill at Tuthilltown will be open to visitors.

The mill is owned and operated by George O. Smith of Gardiner, teacher in the Highland High School.

Built in 1788 by Selah Tuthill, the old mill has been in constant operation with the exception of short periods of time, when repairs were in progress, or new owners taking over.

In 1900 Ludwig Brandt, father of Mrs. Floyd M. Harcourt of Modena operated the mill, and was credited with continuing to serve the farmers hereabouts, when other mills were being closed, due to increased production and inadequate machinery.

In 1941, George O. Smith purchased the property, installed new equipment and made general improvements.

One of the four original millstones remains in the mill. New ones to complete the number required, recently arrived from Sweden.

The original stones came from the Pyrenees in France, and are of French buhr, six inches thick and one and a half feet long.

Sometime ago, an article prepared for the New York State Conservationist, by Nick Drahos, listed 36 water-powered grist and saw mills remaining in New York State in 1958.

He described the local mill as a "flour and grist mill built by Selah Tuthill, about 1788 on Shawangunk Kill, near Gardiner. Only complete stone-ground mill in New York State, although other mills do custom milling. Known as the Wallkill Valley Flour Mill, produces 'Falling Water' brand corn, buckwheat, rye, graham, wheat graham, sifted rye, pumpernickle, pastry and all purpose flours. Turbine generates about 35 h.p."

The 2,000 Marines left Morehead City, N. C., March 4, aboard Navy ships and made their initial landing on March 9.

Climaxing the exercise, named "Brigadelex 2-59," was an amphibious assault landing on Onslow Beach, N. C., March 21.

The Marines then returned to Camp Lejeune.

Robertson Quitting Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter S. Robertson, for years a key figure in mapping U.S. strategy against Communist China, is quitting July 1 as assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

The White House said President Eisenhower will nominate Robertson's deputy, James Graham Parsons, 51, a career diplomat, as successor.

One of the four original millstones remains in the mill. New ones to complete the number required, recently arrived from Sweden.

The original stones came from the Pyrenees in France, and are of French buhr, six inches thick and one and a half feet long.

The making of Kosher flour, at certain seasons, is a ceremony in itself.

Sometime ago, an article prepared for the New York State Conservationist, by Nick Drahos, listed 36 water-powered grist and saw mills remaining in New York State in 1958.

He described the local mill as a "flour and grist mill built by Selah Tuthill, about 1788 on Shawangunk Kill, near Gardiner. Only complete stone-ground mill in New York State, although other mills do custom milling. Known as the Wallkill Valley Flour Mill, produces 'Falling Water' brand corn, buckwheat, rye, graham, wheat graham, sifted rye, pumpernickle, pastry and all purpose flours. Turbine generates about 35 h.p."

Climaxing the exercise, named "Brigadelex 2-59," was an amphibious assault landing on Onslow Beach, N. C., March 21.

The Marines then returned to Camp Lejeune.

Benefit Auction Plans Prepared For 4-H Campers

A 4-H auction for the benefit of the 4-H Camp will be held on Saturday, April 4, at Shays on Route 199 between New Paltz and Highland. The auction will begin at 10 a. m. and all sorts of articles will be on sale, including baked goods and whatever is contributed in the manner of live stock, farm machinery, furniture, glassware, antiques etc.

Articles to be sold may be left at Shays today and Friday of this week and what is donated for the sale will be the only limit to the articles offered for sale on Saturday. The proceeds will go toward the 4-H camp funds.

In addition to the auction of livestock, tools, supplies, produce, furniture, glassware, dishes and antiques there will be the baked goods sale featuring home made baked foods of various kinds.

Refreshments will be on sale during the day, consisting of hamburgers, hot dogs, milk, and luscious Ulster County grown apples.

All members of the 4-H leaders are invited to bring articles to be offered at the auction and also to remain and "bid in" any article which may catch the eye.

Proceeds will go to the 4-H camp which was started in 1956 and is located on Burleigh Road, a mile off the VanNostrand Road in the towns of Esopus and New Paltz.

At the present time there is a 30 by 90 foot lodge with concrete floor; five cabins and two additional cabins are in the process of being erected. The swimming pool is to be completed this year. Last year some 70 4-H members attended the camp and this year plans to care for 125 boys and girls during the camping season are being made. Several of the 4-H Training Schools have been held at the camp and plans for holding other Extension meetings are under consideration.

Possibly one or more of the above reasons is the answer. But now another service has been added.

Call to General Grounds Colonel Taking Vacation

TOKYO (AP)— Seven U.S. airmen thanked a general today for overriding a colonel whose vacation plans bumped the fliers off a plane bound for the United States.

Even so, one of the enlisted men was delayed in reaching the bedside of his critically ill mother. She died before he could get home.

All the enlisted men were on emergency leave. The colonel, bound with his family for a vacation in Hawaii, took over the U.S. military airliner that was to carry them home from Tokyo.

The Air Force said the plane was ordered back 30 minutes after leaving Japan, when one of the stranded soldiers telephoned Lt. Gen. Robert W. Burns, commander of U.S. forces in Japan.

The lieutenant colonel bumped from the plane with his wife and four children was identified as Charles Platt Jr., commander of the passenger terminal at Tachikawa in outer Tokyo, the plane's origin.

The colonel was asked to remain in Japan pending investigation of the incident, canceled his vacation and returned to duty, the Air Force said. He could not be reached for comment.

An Air Force spokesman said Platt might "be completely innocent in the affair." But one of the enlisted men said the colonel was "very provoked at being bumped by lower-ranking airmen."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. Jessie Clark of 72 West Union Street loaned me music written by her mother, Ida L. G. Quann. It is called "Come To Kingston." It was written over a quarter of a century ago. The music is lovely and I understand for some two years it used to be played in our high school. No doubt many folks will remember this composition written by a local woman about Kingston.

The words go something like this : "You may rave about your city or town, but I have struck a city, its the best that can be found. The cleanest and the grandest city on the Hudson River. The poorest of its citizens owns his little flivver. There are no idlers in this town, nor for many miles around; In the Rondout Savings Bank much money can be found." Then the chorus goes like this: "Come to Kingston! Come to Kingston! Its the best advice to give. Come to Kingston! Come to Kingston! Its the only place to live. The Orpheum show is bound to cure the blues, The whole world respects our famous Daily News, This is the place to settle down, Come to Kingston, its a grand old town." In the other verses there is mention of business enterprises, some gone and some still going concerns. Perhaps at this time such a group like the Chamber of Commerce which are mentioned in the song or other groups will be interested in this song. The music is very catchy and no doubt many verses can be made up to it which fit the modern trend. Perhaps someone will make a record of it.

Among items Mr. Finley, a former Kingstonian, now living at Dumont, N. J. sent was a little booklet on Kingston Point Park, dated 1903. It starts off something like this: "Kingston Point Park 1903. When Hendrick Hudson made his celebrated voyage of discovery, in September, 1609, he may have been impressed by the beauty of a long rocky point of land running out from the west bank of the majestic river, and having the Catskill Mountains for its background. This wild spot was destined to be the gateway leading to a large settlement, soon to be established and which finally developed into the City of Kingston."

It further goes on to say, "Kingston was founded by the Dutch in 1661, and first bore the name of Wiltwyck, or 'Wild Man's Town.' The site of the stockade, within which the first houses were built, was selected by Governor Peter Stuyvesant himself, and a number of the streets of the present city bear names which are derived from their location in the old stockade, built by Stuyvesant."

The booklet also says, "All ships and river craft landed at Kingston Point because of the good depth of water, and all of the traffic continued to be handled there until after the completion of the Delaware and Hudson Canal in the early part of the last century. At that time the Rondout Creek was improved, thus allowing vessels of deep draft to come up to the terminus of the canal at Eddyville, above Rondout. From that time until quite recently Kingston Point was a deserted spot." That booklet of 1903 said.

SAWKILL NEWS

Elections to Be Held April 13 by Firemen

The Sawkill Fire Company holds meetings regularly the second Monday each month at 8 p. m., and firemanic training drills the fourth Monday starting at 7:30 p. m.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the company will be April 13. Election of firemanic officers is scheduled for the April meeting. Among those offices to be voted upon are those of fire chief, assistant fire chiefs, captain, first and second lieutenant, chief of fire police, and assistant fire police chief.

Currently serving are Fire Chief Francis Joy; First Assistant Fire Chief Joseph Carcaramo; Second Assistant Fire Chief William Quick; Engineers George Leedecke and John Duffy, and Chief of Fire Police John Dixon.

Several candidates have been named by the nominating committee. Other officials currently serving terms in the Fire Company include: President W. B. Hilborn, Vice President Edward McCaffrey, Secretary Frank Borghere, and Treasurer Paul Butler.

Members of the company fire police include John Richart, David Bjaelker, Paul Burton and Earl Sleight. All members are requested to attend regular meetings, and also the training classes.

There are five commissioners and one secretary-treasurer serving the Sawkkill Fire District. A commissioner is elected each year for a period of five years, and the secretary-treasurer is elected every three years for a three year term. The officials are elected by the eligible voters of the fire district. Currently serving are William McGinnis, secretary-treasurer, whose term will expire in 1961, and Commissioners Paul Burton, term until 1959, Harry Siemsen, 1960, William Ferguson, 1961, Herbert Dixon, 1962, and Earl Sleight, 1963.

Recently, a first aid instruction class for the volunteer firemen was held at the firehouse with instructor Robert Dolan. Included in the evening's training was treatment of burns, heat prostration, and instructions in the use of the oxygen inhalator equipment owned by the company. Four more classes will be scheduled at dates to be announced.

Fire Auxiliary Notes

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting at the firehouse Wednesday, March 25. Meetings are held the fourth Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m. President Mrs. James Tyler presided.

Plans for raising funds were discussed. Two items needed at the firehouse are a refrigerator and a sound projector. Both the fire company and the auxiliary are discussing ways and means of obtaining these items. The refrigerator previously used has broken down beyond repair. A sound projector is an item the firemen are very interested in having, since the use of it for showing training films will greatly aid them. It can also be used for showing films of general interest to the community.

A membership campaign is being undertaken by the Ladies Auxiliary. Anyone who would be interested in learning more about the activities of the Auxiliary, and who would like to join the group may attend the regular meetings, or may contact one of the officers of the Auxiliary. An effort is being made to contact all ladies of the fire district.

Town Notes

Currently serving as officers are Mrs. Tyler, president; Mrs. John Dent, vice president; Mrs. R. B. Hilborn, secretary and Mrs. Thomas Malone, treasurer. Refreshments were served at the close of last week's meeting by the March refreshment committee members, Mrs. John Duffy and Mrs. Thomas Malone. The next regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on April 27, 8 p. m. at the firehouse.

Robert Dolan, Sweet Meadows, was appointed town constable by the Town Board, Supervisor Leo Stauble, Town Clerk George Leedecke, and Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, in March.

Larry Blackwell will be dog warden and enumerator of the Town of Kingston, effective April 1, by appointment of the Town Board. Francis Joy, who has been warden and enumerator for the past several years resigned from the position effective March 31.

Harry Siemsen, fire warden, wishes to once again ask area residents to be extremely cautious when burning brush and trash. The combination of high winds and dryness at this time of year makes burning a hazardous undertaking. Although the local area has been fortunate so far this year, the surrounding areas have had a number of brush fires recently. Mr. Siemsen advises burning brush and trash only on damp days, without wind, and to keep constant surveillance on fires to be sure they do not get out of control.

The local cancer drive will be conducted during the month of April with Mrs. George Leedecke chairman, assisted by Joseph Carcaramo and Mrs. Robert Ferrigan.

The Red Cross Drive, conducted during March, has been directed by Mrs. William McGinnis, assisted by Mrs. William Ferguson and Mrs. Frank Borghere.

Ruling Due

Utica, Lancaster, Pa., and Newton, N. J.

The opinion of some farm unit officials was that a majority of farmers who were heard at earlier meetings appeared to be in favor of the promotion and research program.

Would Make Deductions

If Dr. Blanford's findings permit the program, handlers of milk would send a so-called "positive letter" to dairy farmers informing them that one-cent per hundredweight would be deducted for the PMMDB. The deductions would begin after the Development board certified that at least 90 per cent of the producers in the milkshed had received letters from their handlers. The deductions would then continue until such time as the board determined that more than 25 per cent of the producers who received the letter had not been contributing for three consecutive months. In such an event, the program would be abandoned.

Under the proposed program, at the end of each year, the market administrator would have to make a new determination of producer sentiment. If there were lack of substantial opposition, handlers would again send the "positive letter" to their producers.

Possibly one or more of the above reasons is the answer. But now another service has been added.

Call to General Grounds Colonel Taking Vacation

TOKYO (AP)— Seven U.S. airmen thanked a general today for overriding a colonel whose vacation plans bumped the fliers off a plane bound for the United States.

Even so, one of the enlisted men was delayed in reaching the bedside of his critically ill mother. She died before he could get home.

All the enlisted men were on emergency leave. The colonel, bound with his family for a vacation in Hawaii, took over the U.S. military airliner that was to carry them home from Tokyo.

The Air Force said the plane was ordered back 30 minutes after leaving Japan, when one of the stranded soldiers telephoned Lt. Gen. Robert W. Burns, commander of U.S. forces in Japan.

The lieutenant colonel bumped from the plane with his wife and four children was identified as Charles Platt Jr., commander of the passenger terminal at Tachikawa in outer Tokyo, the plane's origin.

The colonel was asked to remain in Japan pending investigation of the incident, canceled his vacation and returned to duty, the Air Force said. He could not be reached for comment.

An Air Force spokesman said Platt might "be completely innocent in the affair." But one of the enlisted men said the colonel was "very provoked at being bumped by lower-ranking airmen."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Mrs. Jessie Clark of 72 West Union Street loaned me music written by her mother, Ida L. G. Quann. It is called "Come To Kingston." It was written over a quarter of a century ago. The music is lovely and I understand for some two years it used to be played in our high school. No doubt many folks will remember this composition written by a local woman about Kingston.

The words go something like this : "You may rave about your city or town, but I have struck a city, its the best that can be found. The cleanest and the grandest city on the Hudson River. The poorest of its citizens owns his little flivver. There are no idlers in this town, nor for many miles around; In the Rondout Savings Bank much money can be found." Then the chorus goes like this: "Come to Kingston! Come to Kingston! Its the best advice to give. Come to Kingston! Come to Kingston! Its the only place to live. The Orpheum show is bound to cure the blues, The whole world respects our famous Daily News, This is the place to settle down, Come to Kingston, its a grand old town." In the other verses there is mention of business enterprises, some gone and some still going concerns. Perhaps at this time such a group like the Chamber of Commerce which are mentioned in the song or other groups will be interested in this song. The music is very catchy and no doubt many verses can be made up to it which fit the modern trend. Perhaps someone will make a record of it.

Among items Mr. Finley, a former Kingstonian, now living at Dumont, N. J. sent was a little booklet on Kingston Point Park, dated 1903. It starts off something like this: "Kingston Point Park 1903. When Hendrick Hudson made his celebrated voyage of discovery, in September, 1609, he may have been impressed by the beauty of a long rocky point of land running out from the west bank of the majestic river, and having the Catskill Mountains for its background. This wild spot was destined to be the gateway leading to a large settlement, soon to be established and which finally developed into the City of Kingston."

It further goes on to say, "Kingston was founded by the Dutch in 1661, and first bore the name of Wiltwyck, or 'Wild Man's Town.' The site of the stockade, within which the first houses were built, was selected by Governor Peter Stuyvesant himself, and a number of the streets of the present city bear names which are derived from their location in the old stockade, built by Stuyvesant."

The booklet also says, "All ships and river craft landed at Kingston Point because of the good depth of water, and all of the traffic continued to be handled there until after the completion of the Delaware and Hudson Canal in the early part of the last century. At that time the Rondout Creek was improved, thus allowing vessels of deep draft to come up to the terminus of the canal at Eddyville, above Rondout. From that time until quite recently Kingston Point was a deserted spot." That booklet of 1903 said.

SAWKILL NEWS

Elections to Be Held April 13 by Firemen

The Sawkill Fire Company holds meetings regularly the second Monday each month at 8 p. m., and firemanic training drills the fourth Monday starting at 7:30 p. m.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the company will be April 13. Election of firemanic officers is scheduled for the April meeting. Among those offices to be voted upon are those of fire chief, assistant fire chiefs, captain, first and second lieutenant, chief of fire police, and assistant fire police chief.

Currently serving are Fire Chief Francis Joy; First Assistant Fire Chief Joseph Carcaramo; Second Assistant Fire Chief William Quick; Engineers George Leedecke and John Duffy, and Chief of Fire Police John Dixon.

Several candidates have been named by the nominating committee. Other officials currently serving terms in the Fire Company include: President W. B. Hilborn, Vice President Edward McCaffrey, Secretary Frank Borghere, and Treasurer Paul Butler.

Members of the company fire police include John Richart, David Bjaelker, Paul Burton and Earl Sleight. All members are requested to attend regular meetings, and also the training classes.

There are five commissioners and one secretary-treasurer serving the Sawwkill Fire District. A commissioner is elected each year for a period of five years, and the secretary-treasurer is elected every three years for a three year term. The officials are elected by the eligible voters of the fire district. Currently serving are William McGinnis, secretary-treasurer, whose term will expire in 1961, and Commissioners Paul Burton, term until 1959, Harry Siemsen, 1960, William Ferguson, 1961, Herbert Dixon, 1962, and Earl Sleight, 1963.

Recently, a first aid instruction class for the volunteer firemen was held at the firehouse with instructor Robert Dolan. Included in the evening's training was treatment of burns, heat prostration, and instructions in the use of the oxygen inhalator equipment owned by the company. Four more classes will be scheduled at dates to be announced.

Fire Auxiliary Notes

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Sawkill Fire Company held its regular monthly meeting at the firehouse Wednesday, March 25. Meetings are held the fourth Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m. President Mrs. James Tyler presided.

Plans for raising funds were discussed. Two items needed at the firehouse are a refrigerator and a sound projector. Both the fire company and the auxiliary are discussing ways and means of obtaining these items. The refrigerator previously used has broken down beyond repair. A sound projector is an item the firemen are very interested in having, since the use of it for showing training films will greatly aid them. It can also be used for showing films of general interest to the community.

A membership campaign is being undertaken by the Ladies Auxiliary. Anyone who would be interested in learning more about the activities of the Auxiliary, and who would like to join the group may attend the regular meetings, or may contact one of the officers of the Auxiliary. An effort is being made to contact all ladies of the fire district.

Town Notes

Currently serving as officers are Mrs. Tyler, president; Mrs. John Dent, vice president; Mrs. R. B. Hilborn, secretary and Mrs. Thomas Malone, treasurer. Refreshments were served at the close of last week's meeting by the March refreshment committee members, Mrs. John Duffy and Mrs. Thomas Malone. The next regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on April 27, 8 p. m. at the firehouse.

Robert Dolan, Sweet Meadows, was appointed town constable by the Town Board, Supervisor Leo Stauble, Town Clerk George Leedecke, and Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan, in March.

Larry Blackwell will be dog warden and enumerator of the Town of Kingston, effective April 1, by appointment of the Town Board. Francis Joy, who has been warden and enumerator for the past several years resigned from the position effective March 31.

Harry Siemsen, fire warden, wishes to once again ask area residents to be extremely cautious when burning brush and trash. The combination of high winds and dryness at this time of year makes burning a hazardous undertaking. Although the local area has been fortunate so far this year, the surrounding areas have had a number of brush fires recently. Mr. Siemsen advises burning brush and trash only on damp days, without wind, and to keep constant surveillance on fires to be sure they do not get out of control.

The local cancer drive will be conducted during the month of April with Mrs. George Leedecke chairman, assisted by Joseph Carcaramo and Mrs. Robert Ferrigan.

The Red Cross Drive, conducted during March, has been directed by Mrs. William McGinnis, assisted by Mrs. William Ferguson and Mrs. Frank Borghere.

Ruling Due

Utica, Lancaster, Pa., and Newton, N. J.

The opinion of some farm unit officials was that a majority of farmers who were heard at earlier meetings appeared to be in favor of the promotion and research program.

Would Make Deductions

If Dr. Blanford's findings permit the program, handlers of milk would send a so-called "positive letter" to dairy farmers informing them that one-cent per hundredweight would be deducted for the PMMDB. The deductions would begin after the Development board certified that at least 90 per cent of the producers in the milkshed had received letters from their handlers. The deductions would then continue until such time as the board determined that more than 25 per cent of the producers who received the letter had not been contributing for three consecutive months. In such an event, the program would be abandoned.

Under the proposed program, at the end of each year, the market administrator would have to make a new determination of producer sentiment. If there were lack of substantial opposition, handlers would again send the "positive letter" to their producers.

PSC Says Natural Gas for Upstate Still Year Away

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Natural gas for northern New York is at least another year off, the Public Service Commission suggests.

Commissioner Spencer B. Eddy said Wednesday after the PSC had finished a hearing on two competing applications that he was reminded of the old hit song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas."

His comment followed testimony from the Niagara Mohawk Power Co. and the St. Lawrence Gas Co. Both asked permission to furnish gas to the Massena-Ogdensburg area.

Niagara Mohawk has contracted to buy its natural gas from the New York State Natural Gas Co. However, before New York State Gas can furnish the gas, approval must be obtained from the Federal Power Commission (FPC).

St. Lawrence Gas intends to purchase gas from the St. Lawrence Gas Transmission Co. Ltd. through Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd. Before St. Lawrence can bring gas into the north country, it must get an export license from Canada and an import license from the FPC.

Eddy said the PSC would take no action on the petitions for the franchise until Canada and the FPC act.

"It is a case," he said, "of two competing petitioners asking for a franchise to sell something they don't have."

Federal action is not likely until next fall, it was reported, due to a crowded FPC docket. The PSC therefore would not be able to hand down a decision until next February or March.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission today authorized the Erie Railroad to drop the operation of three summertime trains between Port Jervis and the Pennsylvania state line near Gulf Summit, in Broome County.

The trains, 55, 60 and 78, ran between Hoboken, N. J., and Susquehanna, Pa.

The New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners authorized the Erie to discontinue them between Hoboken and Mahwah, N. J. This eliminates through service to and from Hoboken for New York patrons on the route.

The PSC said that public convenience and necessity no longer required operation of the trains in New York State.

Whittier has prepared a sliding-scale system based on income. Veterans now drawing pensions will be allowed to choose between the new plan and the present system.

Novel Features To Be Promoted For Celebration

New York's Year of History, of which the Hudson-Champlain Celebration is a major part, has been designated as the "Wonderama of 1959" by Leon Michel, special assistant to the Federal Hudson - Champlain Celebration Commission.

"Without the construction of a single permanent exhibit, midway, new historic restoration, or group of 'Fair' buildings; one of the most fabulous shows in the history of our country will be going on over a period of eight months and in an area of thousands of square miles. "Michel stated, and continued, "It is all coming to pass because a substantial number of civic-minded people have a sense of obligation to the great historic heritage which it is their privilage to share with all their countrymen."

Hudson Valley communities, particularly those in the six-county portion comprising Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Orange, Putnam and Ulster, are playing a major role this year in celebrating the 350th anniversary of Henry Hudson's discovery of the Hudson River.

These six counties organized the Hudson Valley Council to promote the historic, scenic, recreational and cultural features of the region. An attractive six-county brochure will soon be off the press.

The Hudson Valley Council today forwarded a list of over 200 events scheduled in the six counties between now and November 1st. to the Federal Commission and the State Commission on Historic Observances. All events will be included in listings they will be prepared and given wide distribution. This list was compiled from dates submitted to Albert Kurdt, executive vice-president of the Hudson Valley Council. Copies of the local list are available on request.

In releasing this information, Kurdt stated that "visitors to the Hudson Valley during the remainder of the year will be able to participate in or witness some kind of a special event for their amusement and pleasure almost every day somewhere in the Hudson Valley," and continued, "Ulster County Communities have been particularly active in arranging special events, anniversaries and commemorations of all kinds."

Major dates in Kingston will be "Homecoming Days," June 4 to 7; September 12 and September 17. Details concerning these dates will be announced later as soon as arranged.

A new six-page folder entitled "Half Moon on the Hudson" has just been received from the Netherlands Information Service. Copies are available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Embarrassing Switch

HARTFORD, Conn., (AP)—Miss Corinne Geetersloh, Gov. Abraham Ribicoff's receptionist, was attracting special smiles and chuckles one morning recently. A little checking disclosed the reason—her deck nameplate had been reversed. The back of it carried the phrase: "Give them what they want."

Elizabeth Back At Sea Following Brief Port Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — The Queen Elizabeth, world's largest liner, was well out into the Atlantic today after making a new turn-around record for heavyweight class, transatlantic passenger ships.

The 83,673-ton vessel, which docked Tuesday night five minutes before midnight, weighed anchor Wednesday at 4:50 p. m. She was in port only 16 hours and 55 minutes.

The turn - around beat the previous record, also set by the Queen Elizabeth in June, 1955, by 14 minutes.

The huge ship was 13 hours late in arriving, having battled one of its stormiest Atlantic crossings.

Discharged 1,071 passengers and 224 tons of general cargo. Took on 1,603 passengers and 15,000 pieces of luggage; 7,200 tons of fuel oil; 4,000 tons of water; 8 tons of poultry; 4 tons of fresh vegetables, 3 tons of frozen fish; 3,000 pounds of meat; 10 automobiles; and 26 tons of general cargo.

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered Sunday, 9:30 a. m., Ashokan; 10:45 a. m., West Hurley; and 12:30 p. m., Glenford. The pastor, the Rev. Richard R. Guice, will preach the Communion sermon, "The Bread of Fellowship."

Fire Closes Plant

HONEOYE FALLS, N. Y. (AP) —A fire at the Rittenhouse Co. has forced the plant to close until next week. About 135 workers are idle.

President Lloyd W. Rittenhouse estimated the damage at $25,000 to $50,000. The fire Wednesday night ruined the painting section of the one-story building. No one was hurt.

The company makes electric door-chimes and other electrical equipment at the plant in this community near Rochester. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

May Transfer Interest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission Wednesday granted Saratoga Springs Radio Station WRSA permission to transfer 50 per cent interest to Martin Karig, owner of Glens Falls Sattion WWSC.

The transfer cannot be made until Karig disposes of his minority interest in Saratoga Springs Station WSPN, the commission ruled.

Foreign currency spent in Israel in 1958 totalled 12 million dollars. This is about twice as much as was spent in 1957.

Freighter Beats Official Opening Of Seaway Route

MONTREAL (AP)—The spring bustle has begun along the St. Lawrence Seaway as melting ice heralds the opening of a new chapter in Canada's shipping history.

The seaway is due to open to shipping April 20, weather permitting. But as far as Montreal is concerned, the Seaway era began Wednesday when the first ship of the season arrived in port.

Skipper Gets Gold Cane

The trim German freighter Volumnia, a 5,000-ton craft designed especially for the new seaway route, arrived in the inland harbor with flags flying for a horn-honking welcome.

Her skipper, Capt. Horst Wille of Hamburg, Germany, for the second time won the gold cane awarded each spring to the first salt water skipper to bring his ship up the St. Lawrence River to Montreal.

The seaway's 900 canal and office workers came under the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority Wednesday. They had formerly been employees of the Federal Department of Transport, and as such had no collective bargaining rights. The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, claiming a majority majority of the seaway employees, announced plans to seek certification as their bargaining agent.

It is not known whether the authority — an agency of the federal government — is prepared to engage in collective bargaining. Officials said the problem is a complex one.

The workers are employed in the areas of Sault Ste. Marie, Welland, Cornwall and Iroquois in Ontario and Beauharnois, Montreal and Lachine in Quebec.

At St. Catharines, Ont., bad icing kept the Welland Ship Canal closed. It was the first time in several years the canal had not opened April 1. Monday now is the date.

No Ice Problem

No ice problem confronts officials at the Iroquois Locks at Cornwall, Ont. The most westerly of the seaway's seven locks was kept open all winter.

The closed winter season was the shortest in Montreal's history, thanks to the efforts of men and icebreakers who prodded along dozens of ships caught in the old canal system by an early cold spell, and then cut a channel through an icy St. Lawrence barrier that held 13 freighters in Montreal Harbor until Jan. 14. That was the latest date on which an ocean ship had ever sailed from Montreal.

The struggle was a swan song for the 50-year-old canals, the shallow route around turbulent rapids in the river. The 135-mile seaway will replace them.

Harry Johnson of Harrisburg who sat South won the opening heart lead in his own hand and led a low spade. West played the six and dummy's queen held the trick. Four rounds of clubs came next and since West had to follow to the first three leads Harry was able to get rid of both his losing diamonds. West made his ace and jack of trumps but Harry made his contract.

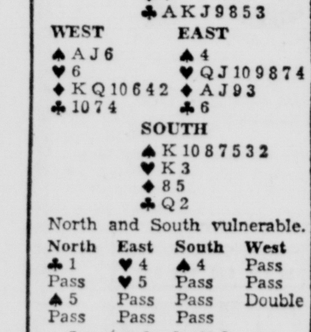

The game was duplicate and Harry writes that while the result was more than satisfactory his partner was rather critical of both his bidding and play.

North contended that Harry should have doubled five hearts and taken a sure profit and that Harry should have played the nine of spades from dummy at trick two.

Harry also points out that West could have beaten the hand either by opening diamonds or by going up with the ace of spades at trick two and then shifting to diamonds.

I rather agree with North about the bidding. Harry made a most enterprising four-spade bid and should have been afraid of a belated raise by North.

As for the play I like the way he handled it. East might have held a singleton jack of spades and Harry's play guarded against that possibility.

Zoning Is Issue At Board Meeting

NEW PALTZ—At the last regular meeting of the town board, Supervisor Richard W. Lent denied the rumor that the board has held a private meeting at his home where it was agreed to drop town zoning until the fall election.

Joseph C. Kerrigan Jr., president of the Taxpayers Association, who confronted the board with the rumor, asked if the question of zoning had been discussed at any time by the board. Supervisor Lent, Councilman Robert Elting, and Justice of the Peace, John Tenaglia denied there had been any official meeting or any official decision on zoning. However, Judge I. C. Barnes said, "we have had a number of meetings and the people seem against zoning, so the board has dropped it."

Councilman Elting, in an interview after the meeting, said "the town board has not dropped zoning and has not reached a decision pro or con."

On the favorable side of zoning, the board has received a letter from the New Paltz members of the Ulster County Farm Bureau asking the town board to consider the resolutions and "at some future date we be given an opportunity to discuss with the members of the board our proposals.

We feel we may be able to constructively contribute in the revision so that there is no inconviences to the good farmer who plans and maps the development of his farm in order to derive the most from his lands. It took careful planning to plant and seed our present orchards and pastures that today enhance the countryside. Many of the present inhabitants were attracted to New Paltz because of the orderly and tasteful planning which was and is, being practiced by farmers. It is important that this planning continue if our town is to expand and grow gracefully."

The farm Bureau feels, however, that the proposed ordinance, as written, is not acceptable, therefore, it has written up several resolutions, favorable to the farmer, which they extended to the board for consideration.

On the con side, Kerrigan suggested that the board drop the proposed ordinance and appoint a committee which would "look into other means of accomplishing zoning such as licensing..." Lent pointed out to Kerrigan that a large number of people in the town live in the village and they had requested the board to zone the town in conjunction with village zoning. This is how the town happened to go ahead with the zoning, Lent said.

It is estimated that the strength of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel numbered more than 27,000.

Zoning Is Issue At Board Meeting

NEW PALTZ—At the last regular meeting of the town board, Supervisor Richard W. Lent denied the rumor that the board has held a private meeting at his home where it was agreed to drop town zoning until the fall election.

Joseph C. Kerrigan Jr., president of the Taxpayers Association, who confronted the board with the rumor, asked if the question of zoning had been discussed at any time by the board. Supervisor Lent, Councilman Robert Elting, and Justice of the Peace, John Tenaglia denied there had been any official meeting or any official decision on zoning. However, Judge I. C. Barnes said, "we have had a number of meetings and the people seem against zoning, so the board has dropped it."

Councilman Elting, in an interview after the meeting, said "the town board has not dropped zoning and has not reached a decision pro or con."

On the favorable side of zoning, the board has received a letter from the New Paltz members of the Ulster County Farm Bureau asking the town board to consider the resolutions and "at some future date we be given an opportunity to discuss with the members of the board our proposals.

We feel we may be able to constructively contribute in the revision so that there is no inconviences to the good farmer who plans and maps the development of his farm in order to derive the most from his lands. It took careful planning to plant and seed our present orchards and pastures that today enhance the countryside. Many of the present inhabitants were attracted to New Paltz because of the orderly and tasteful planning which was and is, being practiced by farmers. It is important that this planning continue if our town is to expand and grow gracefully."

The farm Bureau feels, however, that the proposed ordinance, as written, is not acceptable, therefore, it has written up several resolutions, favorable to the farmer, which they extended to the board for consideration.

On the con side, Kerrigan suggested that the board drop the proposed ordinance and appoint a committee which would "look into other means of accomplishing zoning such as licensing..." Lent pointed out to Kerrigan that a large number of people in the town live in the village and they had requested the board to zone the town in conjunction with village zoning. This is how the town happened to go ahead with the zoning, Lent said.

It is estimated that the strength of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel numbered more than 27,000.

Ike Tells

that it "openly challenged the concepts of justice and freedom which our respective nations adhere to and support."

To meet this threat and protect the spiritual foundation of Western civilization against any kind of attack—military, economic or political—NATO was created, Eisenhower said.

NATO Halts Advances

"Since NATO was formed," Eisenhower continued, "there has been no further Communist advance in Europe—either by political or military means. And while our military efforts have obviously required economic sacrifice, they have by no means stunted the economic growth of member countries.

"By our association," Eisenhowered declared, "we have created possibilities for new and unprecedented forms of economic cooperation among the free peoples of Europe. Together we have laid the foundation for intimate Atlantic partnership in other fields, such as science and technology. All these achievements of the past decade merely point the way for an accelerated progress ahead."

The first business session of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers will be held in the afternoon to discuss the Soviet threat to Berlin and learn the general lines the United States, Britain, France and West Germany so far have develope' for meeting it.

Doubts War

Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of the defense organization, at a news conference Wednesday night summed up the theme of its Washington sessions insofar as the Berlin problem is concerned —emphasizing the grave dangers which Berlin holds for the West.

"I don't believe we'll have a war," Spaak said, "but if we don't have a war we cannot suffer a diplomatic defeat in Berlin. It might be the first sign of a disintegration of the alliance and of the West."

How to avoid a military showdown and at the same time prevent the Soviets from scoring a diplomatic victory with their pressures on Berlin has occupied the U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers here for two days.

Not All Resolved

They concluded their intensive discussions of negotiating proposals and strategy Wednesday night. Informants reported that they had failed to resolve all their differences over how to deal with the Soviets at a foreign ministers conference at Geneva in May but they did reach some agreement.

The talks of the Western Big Four cleared the way for debate on the Berlin issue in the larger NATO group of 15 foreign ministers.

Military pomp and ceremony, symbolizing the strength which NATO has been able to generate over a troubled decade, were arranged to dramatize today's gathering in the same great hall in which the NATO treaty was signed April 4, 1949.

Allaben Hearing Set April 7 For Shandaken-Phoenicia Job

A public hearing will be held at the Shandaken town hall, Allaben, on Tuesday, April 7, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. to consider the proposed reconstruction of about 4.4 miles of Route 28 from a point about a half-mile east of the Route 42 intersection in Shandaken southeastward to about a half-mile west of the Route 214 intersection at Phoenicia.

Announcement of the public hearing was made today by J. Burch McMorran, State Superintendent of Public Works, according to a statement from Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

Two Concrete Lanes

This new highway, part of an overall improvement to Route 28, (Onteora Trail) between Kingston and the Catskill mountain area, would have two concrete lanes and in some locations would be on new improved alignment in order to straighten the road.

The public hearing will be conducted under the general supervision of Kurt G. Rauer, district engineer in charge of the Department's district office at Poughkeepsie.

Preliminary plans showing the location of the project and the properties through or contiguous to which the proposed new highway section would pass will be available for study, and a department engineer will explain the proposed project and outline its advantages.

The section proposed for reconstruction is that portion of Route 28 which begins near the intersection of the Shandaken-Westkill road and extends easterly to the Phoenicia-Chichester road.

All May Speak Out

All persons attending the hearing may present their views, for or against the plan and its economic effects, by written statements or orally. Those unable to attend the hearing personally may file written statements with Rauer within five days after the public hearing, and such statements will be included in the official record.

The public hearing is being conducted in conformance with Section 116 (c) of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956, which provides that State Highway Departments, in connection with submission of plans for a Federal Aid highway project, may hold public hearings at which the effects of such construction can be publicly discussed.

Ellenville Rate

applications would be reviewed and considered soon after the organizational meeting of the village board which will be held next Monday night.

At that meeting, the board will appoint village officers. Those whose terms expire include village clerk, Alice Moffitt; village treasurer, Irving Esrig; village attorney, James Murray, and village engineer, Leslie Bowman. The terms of the clerk and treasurer run for two years each.

To Vote on Water Job

Mayor Glusker said today that a referendum will be held sometime in May to act on a proposal for a new 1,500,000-gallon standpipe and connecting pipes. The cost of the project would be in the neighborhood of $165,000. Mayor Glusker said that the Rating Organization is "very critical" of the Ellenville water situation and improvements must be made.

Rockefeller Is

is going to involve political restraint on both sides."

The governor said the recent talk here of city secession from the state is "very unfortunate." He added: "I feel very badly about it."

Says Study Needed

He said he will "review the whole range" of the city's share of state funds allocated to municipalities. "I need to know a lot more about the fiscal situation in order to know what to do about the problem," he added. City officials complain that the state takes much more in taxes from the city than it returns in aid.

Rockefeller said he hopes the city will benefit from the "Little Hoover Commission" authorized by the Legislature to review the city administration's operations.

In discussing the city's financial problems, the governor said New York City members of the Legislature "didn't create a very friendly attitude by their action toward the state's fiscal problems."

Flemming Given Honorary Degree At Georgetown

ARTHUR S. FLEMMING

A Kingston native now serving in the president's cabinet, and recently mentioned as "presidential timber" received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree at the spring convocation in March of Georgetown University held in Washington, D. C.

He is Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, 53, secretary of health, education and welfare, son of Mrs. Harry H. Flemming of Kingston, and the late Judge Flemming.

Featured in Hoya

The story of the convocation was featured in the March 19 issue of The Hoya, Georgetown University publication. Make-up editor of the paper is John M. Snyder, son of Mrs. Agatha Flick Snyder of 67 Maiden Lane, and the late John I. Snyder.

The academy celebrating its 170th birthday was host to Dr. Flemming who addressed the gathering during the day-long ceremonies.

Dr. Flemming who entered the president's cabinet August 1, 1958 was mentioned in the January issue of U. S. News & World Report as among 10 Republicans who would receive President Eisenhower's support for the presidential candidacy in 1960, if nominated.

Born in this city June 12, 1905, Dr. Flemming attended local schools, graduating from Kingston High School in 1922. Following his graduation, Dr. Flemming then barely 17, was urged by his father to delay going to college for a year to gain some experience and maturity.

Worked At Freeman

He obtained employment in the editorial department of The Freeman. He continued his journalistic work as a staff member of the college newspaper when he entered Ohio Wesleyan University. Dr. Flemming received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan in 1927 and his Master of Arts from American University in 1928. He received his LLB degree from George Washington University in 1933.

In 1939 he was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as a member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. During and after World War II, he held posts in the Office of War Manpower Commission, Labor Department, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Hoover Commission.

Dr. Flemming left government service in 1948 to become president of Ohio Wesleyan, then returned to Washington as Defense Mobilization Director during the Korean Conflict.

He resigned February 6, 1957 to return to Ohio Wesleyan. In May 1958, he was appointed by President Eisenhower to the position he now holds in the cabinet.

Ike Tells

that it "openly challenged the concepts of justice and freedom which our respective nations adhere to and support."

To meet this threat and protect the spiritual foundation of Western civilization against any kind of attack—military, economic or political—NATO was created, Eisenhower said.

NATO Halts Advances

"Since NATO was formed," Eisenhower continued, "there has been no further Communist advance in Europe—either by political or military means. And while our military efforts have obviously required economic sacrifice, they have by no means stunted the economic growth of member countries.

"By our association," Eisenhowered declared, "we have created possibilities for new and unprecedented forms of economic cooperation among the free peoples of Europe. Together we have laid the foundation for intimate Atlantic partnership in other fields, such as science and technology. All these achievements of the past decade merely point the way for an accelerated progress ahead."

The first business session of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers will be held in the afternoon to discuss the Soviet threat to Berlin and learn the general lines the United States, Britain, France and West Germany so far have develope" for meeting it.

Doubts War

Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary general of the defense organization, at a news conference Wednesday night summed up the theme of its Washington sessions insofar as the Berlin problem is concerned —emphasizing the grave dangers which Berlin holds for the West.

"I don't believe we'll have a war," Spaak said, "but if we don't have a war we cannot suffer a diplomatic defeat in Berlin. It might be the first sign of a disintegration of the alliance and of the West."

How to avoid a military showdown and at the same time prevent the Soviets from scoring a diplomatic victory with their pressures on Berlin has occupied the U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers here for two days.

Not All Resolved

They concluded their intensive discussions of negotiating proposals and strategy Wednesday night. Informants reported that they had failed to resolve all their differences over how to deal with the Soviets at a foreign ministers conference at Geneva in May but they did reach some agreement.

The talks of the Western Big Four cleared the way for debate on the Berlin issue in the larger NATO group of 15 foreign ministers.

Military pomp and ceremony, symbolizing the strength which NATO has been able to generate over a troubled decade, were arranged to dramatize today's gathering in the same great hall in which the NATO treaty was signed April 4, 1949.

Allaben Hearing Set April 7 For Shandaken-Phoenicia Job

A public hearing will be held at the Shandaken town hall, Allaben, on Tuesday, April 7, from 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. to consider the proposed reconstruction of about 4.4 miles of Route 28 from a point about a half-mile east of the Route 42 intersection in Shandaken southeastward to about a half-mile west of the Route 214 intersection at Phoenicia.

Announcement of the public hearing was made today by J. Burch McMorran, State Superintendent of Public Works, according to a statement from Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson.

Two Concrete Lanes

This new highway, part of an overall improvement to Route 28, (Onteora Trail) between Kingston and the Catskill mountain area, would have two concrete lanes and in some locations would be on new improved alignment in order to straighten the road.

The public hearing will be conducted under the general supervision of Kurt G. Rauer, district engineer in charge of the Department's district office at Poughkeepsie.

Preliminary plans showing the location of the project and the properties through or contiguous to which the proposed new highway section would pass will be available for study, and a department engineer will explain the proposed project and outline its advantages.

The section proposed for reconstruction is that portion of Route 28 which begins near the intersection of the Shandaken-Westkill road and extends easterly to the Phoenicia-Chichester road.

All May Speak Out

All persons attending the hearing may present their views, for or against the plan and its economic effects, by written statements or orally. Those unable to attend the hearing personally may file written statements with Rauer within five days after the public hearing, and such statements will be included in the official record.

The public hearing is being conducted in conformance with Section 116 (c) of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956, which provides that State Highway Departments, in connection with submission of plans for a Federal Aid highway project, may hold public hearings at which the effects of such construction can be publicly discussed.

At that meeting, the board will appoint village officers. Those whose terms expire include village clerk, Alice Moffitt; village treasurer, Irving Esrig; village attorney, James Murray, and village engineer, Leslie Bowman. The terms of the clerk and treasurer run for two years each.

To Vote on Water Job

Mayor Glusker said today that a referendum will be held sometime in May to act on a proposal for a new 1,500,000-gallon standpipe and connecting pipes. The cost of the project would be in the neighborhood of $165,000. Mayor Glusker said that the Rating Organization is "very critical" of the Ellenville water situation and improvements must be made.

is going to involve political restraint on both sides."

The governor said the recent talk here of city secession from the state is "very unfortunate." He added: "I feel very badly about it."

Says Study Needed

He said he will "review the whole range" of the city's share of state funds allocated to municipalities. "I need to know a lot more about the fiscal situation in order to know what to do about the problem," he added. City officials complain that the state takes much more in taxes from the city than it returns in aid.

Rockefeller said he hopes the city will benefit from the "Little Hoover Commission" authorized by the Legislature to review the city administration's operations.

In discussing the city's financial problems, the governor said New York City members of the Legislature "didn't create a very friendly attitude by their action toward the state's fiscal problems."

The story of the convocation was featured in the March 19 issue of The Hoya, Georgetown University publication. Make-up editor of the paper is John M. Snyder, son of Mrs. Agatha Flick Snyder of 67 Maiden Lane, and the late John I. Snyder.

The academy celebrating its 170th birthday was host to Dr. Flemming who addressed the gathering during the day-long ceremonies.

Dr. Flemming who entered the president's cabinet August 1, 1958 was mentioned in the January issue of U. S. News & World Report as among 10 Republicans who would receive President Eisenhower's support for the presidential candidacy in 1960, if nominated.

Born in this city June 12, 1905, Dr. Flemming attended local schools, graduating from Kingston High School in 1922. Following his graduation, Dr. Flemming then barely 17, was urged by his father to delay going to college for a year to gain some experience and maturity.

Worked At Freeman

He obtained employment in the editorial department of The Freeman. He continued his journalistic work as a staff member of the college newspaper when he entered Ohio Wesleyan University. Dr. Flemming received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan in 1927 and his Master of Arts from American University in 1928. He received his LLB degree from George Washington University in 1953.

In 1939 he was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as a member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. During and after World War II, he held posts in the Office of War Manpower Commission, Labor Department, the Atomic Energy Commission and the Hoover Commission.

Dr. Flemming left government service in 1948 to become president of Ohio Wesleyan, then returned to Washington as Defense Mobilization Director during the Korean Conflict.

He resigned February 6, 1957 to return to Ohio Wesleyan. In May 1958, he was appointed by President Eisenhower to the position he now holds in the cabinet.

Put Modern Home Ice Cream Freezer to Appetizing Use

TODAY, electricity makes homemade ice cream no chore at all. One possibility is a banana ice cream baked Alaska like this.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Homemade ice cream is still an old-fashioned favorite in countless homes. However, although the appeal and pleasure may be old-fashioned, today's modern freezers, electrically powered, are streamlined and made of colorful lightweight plastic. That's why they are often used in modern homes.

For your modern ice cream freezer, a treat that combines ripe bananas and honeyed wheat germ instead of graham crackers or cookie crumbs:

Banana Ice Cream
(Makes approx. 2 quarts)

Two cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract, 1 cup mashed ripe bananas, 3 cups light cream.

Scald 1½ cups of the milk in the top part of a double boiler. Combine the flour, sugar and salt; blend in the scalded milk. Return to the double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Beat the eggs with the remaining ½ cup of milk. Add to the hot mixture and cook 3 minutes. Cool and add vanilla, mashed bananas and cream. Place the mixture in the ice cream freezer according to the manufacturer's directions. Pack the outer container with chopped ice and rock salt (available at grocery stores in the proportion of 8 parts ice to 1 part of salt. Freeze until finished, allowing about 20 minutes. When frozen, allow the ice cream to ripen about 2 hours to blend the flavors. Pack more ice around the ice cream in the home freezer or transfer the ice cream to the freezer compartment of the refrigerator.

Banana Alaska Pie
(Makes one 9 or 10-inch pie)

Crust: 2 cups sugar-honeyed wheat germ, ¼ cup butter or margarine.

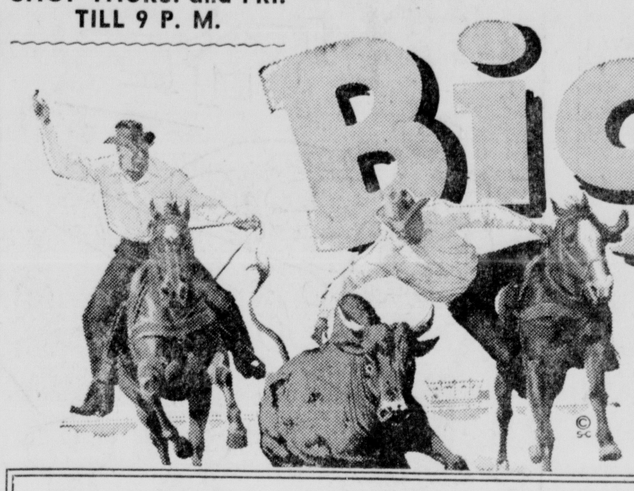

Filling: 1½ quarts homemade banana ice cream, 3 egg whites, ¾ cup sugar.

Thoroughly blend together sugar-honeyed wheat germ and butter or margarine with fingers or back of spoon. For a finer, less crunchy crust, first place the wheat germ between 2 pieces of waxed paper and crush with a rolling pin. Press the crumb-butter mixture into a 9- or 10-inch pie plate. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 5 to 7 minutes. Cool and freeze. Soften the ice cream at room temperature until it is spreadable. Spoon it into the frozen pie crust, spreading it with a spoon to make an even layer. Freeze until firm. Just before serving, beat the egg whites with the sugar until stiff. Spread the meringue quickly over the pie, making certain that it completely covers the ice cream and the meringue edges are sealed to the crust. Bake in a preheated hot oven (500 degrees F.) 3 to 4 minutes, or until the meringue swirls are lightly browned. Serve immediately.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Orange and avocado cup, fried chicken, whipped potatoes, fresh asparagus, lemon butter, hot biscuits, butter or margarine, banana Alaska pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Schine Theaters Pay $68,000 Fine

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Schine theater interests have paid $68,000 in fines for criminal contempt of court stemming from an anti-trust suit.

The payment Wednesday ended a long dispute over the criminal contempt citation, which was taken to the Supreme Court. The court, however, refused to review it.

Still pending is the federal government's civil contempt suit against the movie theater chain. The case began 20 years ago.

The Schine interests were found guilty of criminal contempt in 1956 for refusing to obey a 1949 order directing them to dispose of 39 movie theaters.

The fines were paid by Schine Theaters, Inc., $25,000; J. Myer Schine, $25,000; Donald G. Schine, $5,000; Howard M. Antevil, $5,000; and Schine Theatrical Co. Inc., Schine Lexington Corp., Schine Circuit, Inc., Chesapeake Theaters Corp., Darnell Theaters, Inc., Hildemart Corp. and Schine Enterprises, $1,000 each.

J. Myer Schine is president of Schine Tehaters, Inc. Donald G. Schine, his nephew, is president of several of the subsidiaries. Both are of Gloversville.

An attorney for the Schine interests has said that it is impossible to comply with the court order to sell the theaters because there is no market for them.

Talking Is Expensive

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP)—An interpreter was brought into municipal court when Francisco Garcia, 33, charged with drunk driving, claimed he could speak only Spanish. While the interpreter was laboriously framing a question, police prosecutor Robert Franklin suddenly asked, "How much did you have to drink?" "Just two glasses of wine," Garcia snapped back—in English. The judge added a $5 interpreter's fee to Garcia's fine.

He Gets Action

TOLEDO, Ohio, (AP)—Four-year-old Mark Heldrum, a pneumonia victim, called for his nurse at Mercy Hospital to tell her he was feeling better. She didn't appear, so Mark pushed a button. Bells clanged, intercommunications speakers blared and the hospital corridors became a river of rushing nurses and doctors. Mark had pushed the fire alarm.

Lewiston Man Killed in Plane Mishap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has announced the death of Lt. Edward G. Nemer of Lewiston, N. Y., whose plane crashed in the Mediterranean Monday.

Nemer, a former University of Vermont football captain, was assigned to Wheelus Field in Libya.

A spokesman Wednesday said details of the crash were incomplete but Nemer was on a routine flight.

The spokesman said personnel at the field got their first indication of the accident when they saw smoke rising from the sea about one-half mile off shore.

A helicopter crew investigated, he said, and the wreckage of the plane—an F-86—was sighted. He said Nemer's body had been recovered.

Girl Dies of Burns

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Seven-year-old Diane Dobucki, whose dress caught fire when she tried to keep her baby sister from playing with matches, died at a hospital Wednesday.

Police said the matches burst into flame as Diane took the pack from her sister, Cindy, 2, on March 22. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dobucki.

Frankness His Virtue

Alcorn Steps Down After 22-Month Try for GOP Win

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every once in a while a politician leaves this citadel of stuffy party platitudes after a career which makes you feel like saying: "Thanks for some cool air, for a change."

Meade Alcorn is such a one.

With a few moments of frankness he dented, although the dent disappeared fast, the long tradition which seems to require political big-wigs to slam-bang the opposition only and never admit defeat beforehand.

Plain Talk a Jolt

Alcorn, 51, did his share of slam-banging before he resigned Wednesday as chairman of the Republican National Committee after more than 22 months of trying to steer his party down a victory road.

But it was his plain talk — months before the 1958 elections — that his party figured to lose which anguished some of his fellow-Republicans and astonished politicians of both parties.

Alcorn, a lawyer who is going back to his practice in Connecticut, looked over the prospects last April and announced to newsmen "it isn't in the cards" for the Republicans to win the Senate.

He thought his party might barely make it in the House.

Realistic Gloom

Among politicians this umbrella of gloom which Alcorn raised over his party's chances may have seemed unheard of, unnecessary, unprofessional and even unsporting. It was certainly unrehearsed.

But it was realistic. And it was justified, for what seemed at the time like wild optimism from his opposite number, Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, turned out to be rather conservative.

Butler predicted the Democrats would win perhaps 12 seats from the Republicans in the Senate and 40 in the House. In the 1958 elections they actually took 13 Republican Senate seats and 47 in the House.

It as the biggest Democratic victory since early New Deal days.

New Dose of Frankness

But Alcorn gave his party another dose of jolting frankness last January when the Republican National Committee met in Des Moines to hold a wake over the 1958 disaster and plan for victory in 1960.

Alcorn told committee members they had better dream up a new look for the party or get set for another shellacking.

"Today," he said, "we are being out-voted, out-talked, out-spent and out-worked by an alert, disciplined, politically astute opposition.

"In politics you can't stand still. Either you go forward or you go backward. And it's high time for the Republican party to shift gears. It's time we snatched off the 'big-business' false-face that the Democrats placed on us years ago.

No Easy Job

"It's time we erased the dollar sign they painted on our vest."

Alcorn, like Butler on the other side of the fence, had no easy time trying to get Republicans to see eye-to-eye or work together.

Butler has to try to keep Southern Democratic conservatives running happily in the same harness with Northern liberals. Alcorn had the same task with the conservatives and liberals of his party.

Even if Alcorn made a policy of sweet-talk he couldn't have pleased everybody.

Highly conservative Rep. Clare Hoffman, Michigan Republican, was so outraged by Alcorn's selection to be the party's general in January 1957 that he reacted immediately with this statement:

"The conservative wing of the Republican party has been liquidated and is about to be buried."

Two Are Killed In Fulton Crash

FULTON, N. Y. (AP)—A man and woman were killed and three other persons were injured early today when two automobiles collided on Route 3 a mile and a half east of here.

Killed were Stanley Horr, 53, of Central Square and Mrs. Louise D. Goettel, 45, of North Syracuse.

Donald Hanlon, 26, of Fulton was reported in fair condition at Lee Memorial Hospital. In satisfactory condition were Donald Vander Haydes, 21, and Harvey Geary, 23, both of Fulton.

State police said the two autobiles met headon down a straight stretch of road.

Horr was the proprietor of a tavern here. Geary is a guard at Fulton County jail.

Four Sentenced In Stag Holdup

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y. (AP)—Three men from the New York City area and one from Geneva have been sentenced for the $1,450 holdup of a stag party in a Geneva tavern.

All had pleaded guilty to charges of first-degree robbery.

Sentenced in Ontario County Court Wednesday to terms in Attica Prison were Louis Coluzzi, 29, of Queens, two to four years; and Robert T. Forbes, 24, of Long Beach; Sheldon Weisberg, 26, of Long Beach; and Louis Simeone, 31, of Geneva, all two to five years.

Forbes was arrested when police broke up the robbery Dec. 17 at the Deluxe Grill. Coluzzi, who was wounded by a police bullet, was picked up as he fled. The others were arrested at their homes the next day. The money was recovered.

Mayor Proclaims C. C. Week Here; Lauds Merchants

Mayor Edwin F. Radel has issued a proclamation in behalf of the observance of Chamber of Commerce Week in Kingston April 12 to 19.

"Kingston," he said, "is justifiably proud of its Chamber of Commerce, an organization that has done so much to promote and protect business, and to develop civic programs designed to make our city a better place in which to work and live."

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, he praised, "has not limited itself to purely business programs. Those, who make up its membership, have been in the forefront of many civic projects undertaken in our community."

The organization, he said, "has consistently presented the business point of view on public questions at all levels of government. Those of us in government have benefited by the counsel of the chamber when matters of common interest have been under discussion."

"Our chamber has been a strong defender of the free enterprise system, which encourages individual initiative, and develops leadership that makes it possible to secure maximum benefits for all the citizens."

The week dedicated this month, he noted, will be the first one so observed locally, and he called upon all to recognize it and "join in the observance."

Shirley Jean Hoffay, Earl E. Carle Jr. Exchange Nuptial Vows at St. Joseph's

On Sunday, March 29 at 2 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, Miss Shirley Jean Hoffay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Hoffay of 160 Tremper Avenue, exchanged marriage vows with Earl E. Carle Jr., son of Earl E. Carle Sr., of 507 Broadway.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. James V. Keating. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Robert Gallo, soloist.

Easter lilies decorated the church for the occasion. The family pews were marked with satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Alencon lace gown fashioned with a Sabrina neckline trimmed with iridescent sequins, fitted bodice and long sleeves. The full skirt of lace over bridal satin ended in a chapel train. A matching lace crown with fingertip pure silk illusion veil completed the ensemble. The bride carried a white prayer book with white orchids.

Miss Anita Senor of 45 Boulevard was maid of honor in a pale blue bouffant skirted ballerina gown of starched nylon sheer over taffeta with elbow length sleeves fitted bodice and high neckline in front. She also wore a matching stiffened horsehair hat with a flirtation veil. She carried light pink cascade bouquet of carnations.

The Misses Rosalie Haines of 175 Wilbur Avenue and Jacqueline Grube of 49 Harwich Street, who were the bridesmaids, dressed in gowns styled identically to that of the honor attendant's except in pink. They carried light blue carnations.

Flower girl for the ceremony was Linda L. Hoffay, the bride's sister, who wore a pale blue floor length silk organza gown over matching tulle styled with a portrait neckline. She also wore a blue flowered tiara with a short veil. Miss Hoffay carried a light pink cascade of carnations.

More than 100 guests were entertained at a reception given at Aiello's Restaurant.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed by the Metropolitan Insurance Company. Her husband, an alumnus of Arlington High School, is employed by Bantam U. S. Toys.

Mr. and Mrs. Carle will reside at 104 O'Neil Street.

Newman Club Will Sponsor Dance Here

At the last meeting of the Kingston Newman Club, Robert Steuding Jr., president announced there will be another giant teen-age dance given at Municipal Auditorium on Thursday, April 16, from 8-11 p. m. More than 850 attended the last giant dance sponsored by the club last October. At this meeting, Mr. Steuding also welcomed several former members who were home from college for the Easter vacation. A number of them formed a panel to discuss the problems faced by college students and the importance of choosing the right college. Questions were answered concerning the social life, rules and regulations, and the philosophical and spiritual training of students attending Catholic colleges. The panel consisted of Terry O'Reilly, Jeanne Ryan, Tilda Cordts, Ann Bruck, Martin Tully, Alan Shuckrow and Howard Marcou. The Rev. Alfred Glancy was moderator.

The teen-age dance planned for April 16 at the auditorium will be sponsored by the Newman Club, the CYO and the American Federation of Musicians, Local 215. The band will be led by Johnny Michaels. The dance, as well as the refreshments, will be free to all high school students and young adults.

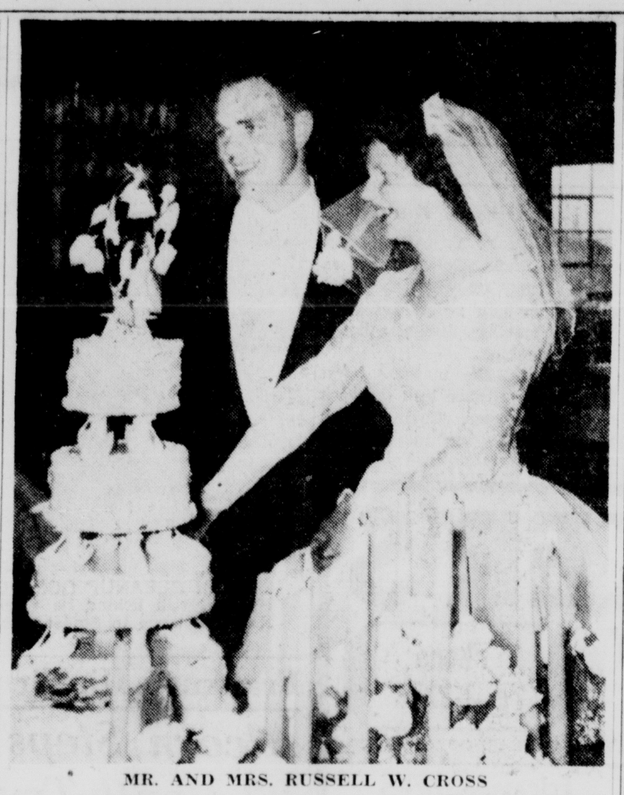

The committee appointed to plan the dance consists of Dave O'Connor, Bill Sill, John Kelly, Cynthia Baker, Michaela Fallon and Rose Deuire. Leo Schupp, Ulster County CYO Director, is chairman.

Try This

If you find you've trouble in wearing pointed-toe shoes with comfort, here's a trick to try: Buy them a width wider than you usually do. These shoes are made on such a narrow last that you can probably take a wider width with ease.

Wear Make-Up

There is no virtue at all in looking frumpy and in going without make-up, as some mature women seem to think. There is no connection between character and an absence of cosmetics. This notion went out with the Victorians.

Alma Senor Weds Russell W. Cross March 29 In Double Ring Ceremony at St. Mary's

Miss Alma Marie Senor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Senor of 35 Grove Street, wed Russell W. Cross, son of Mrs. Percy Cross of Liberty, and the late Mr. Cross, in a double ring ceremony at St. Mary's Church on Sunday, March 29.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Theodore Riccobono was organist and Martin Kelly, soloist.

Lilies and white spring flowers decorated the church for the occasion. The family pews were marked with satin ribbon.

The bride, who comes from a family of 11 children, had all her brothers and sisters take part in the church ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Jacob Senor, she wore a white gown of peau de soie chiffon styled with a scoop neckline outlined with sequins and pearls, long fitted sleeves which ended in points over the wrists, and a bouffant skirt with side drapes and panels of appliqued lace. A tiara held a cathedral length train. The bride carried a cascade of white roses.

Maid of honor was the bride's friend, Edith Haben of Newburgh who wore a white nylon over blue broaded taffeta gown with a blue taffeta cummerbund and hat and shoes to match. She carried a fireside basket of snapdragons, carnations, roses and daisies.

Bridesmaids included Patricia Senor, the bride's cousin, Irene Cross, sister of the bridegroom, Peggy Senor, the bride's sister, and Nancy O'Donnell of Kingston. Newman Club Will Sponsor Dance Here

At the last meeting of the Kingston Newman Club, Robert Steuding Jr., president announced there will be another giant teen-age dance given at Municipal Auditorium on Thursday, April 16, from 8-11 p. m. More than 850 attended the last giant dance sponsored by the club last October. At this meeting, Mr. Steuding also welcomed several former members who were home from college for the Easter vacation. A number of them formed a panel to discuss the problems faced by college students and the importance of choosing the right college. Questions were answered concerning the social life, rules and regulations, and the philosophical and spiritual training of students attending Catholic colleges. The panel consisted of Terry O'Reilly, Jeanne Ryan, Tilda Cordts, Ann Bruck, Martin Tully, Alan Shuckrow and Howard Marcou. The Rev. Alfred Glancy was moderator.

The teen-age dance planned for April 16 at the auditorium will be sponsored by the Newman Club, the CYO and the American Federation of Musicians, Local 215. The band will be led by Johnny Michaels. The dance, as well as the refreshments, will be free to all high school students and young adults.

The committee appointed to plan the dance consists of Dave O'Connor, Bill Sill, John Kelly, Cynthia Baker, Michaela Fallon and Rose Deuire. Leo Schupp, Ulster County CYO Director, is chairman.

Try This

If you find you've trouble in wearing pointed-toe shoes with comfort, here's a trick to try: Buy them a width wider than you usually do. These shoes are made on such a narrow last that you can probably take a wider width with ease.

Wear Make-Up

There is no virtue at all in looking frumpy and in going without make-up, as some mature women seem to think. There is no connection between character and an absence of cosmetics. This notion went out with the Victorians.

Miss Joan Carputo Appears in Photo Accompanying Story

Miss Joan Carputo; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carputo of 134 Broadway, who is a nurse on the staff of Georgetown University Hospital, Washington, D. C., is pictured in a photograph accompanying an article on blood banks which appeared in the March 14th issue of Staurday Evening Post.

The article charges that there consists a condition of waste and commercialism between rival blood-collecting agencies, which get their supply of blood from donors. Some hospitals have charged as much as $125 a pint for blood which they obtained at no cost at all, the article points out.

The photograph in which Miss Carputo appears is that taken during an open-heart operation at Georgetown University Hospital.

Miss Carputo, who was graduated from the Academy of St. Ursula and Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, is assigned to the operating room at the Gergetown Hospital. She joined the hospital staff in October of 1958.

West Point Players Plan Spring Production; To Give Kanin's Play 'Born Yesterday'

The West Point Players, dramatic club of the staff and faculty of the United States Military Academy, announced today that their spring production, "Born Yesterday" will be presented in the Army Theatre at West Point on April 17 and 18 and will be open to the public. Tickets for both the Friday and Saturday performances may be obtained by sending a check to the West Point Players, care of Major M. L. Haskin, Quarters 509-C, West Point. All seats are reserved and will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. Upon request, the West Point Players will be glad to reserve an entire block of seats for any group or organization. Tickets may be purchased also at the box office on the evenings of the performance. Curtain time is set for 8:30 p. m.

"Born Yesterday" was one of the most applauded of Broadway comedies and raised to stardom the now-famous team of Judy Holliday and Paul Douglas. So successful was the play that its author, Garson Kanin, received the Sydney Howard Memorial Award in recognition of its excellence. The play tells the story of a zealous junk dealer who goes to Washington in an effort to win senatorial approval of his scheme to make a few more millions by cornering the market on World War 2 surplus and salvage. In his zeal, he underestimates the intelligence of his blonde, ex-chorus girl friend who, it turns out, wasn't Born Yesterday.

In his review of the Broadway production, Joseph Wood Krutch says, ". . . . the humor is really humor of character, rather than the humor of the wisecrack . . . . genuine freshness, a genuine shrewdness, and a genuine gaiety. . . ." Critic Stark Young says, ". . . . keeps going all through and is very jolly fun, a bright and crackling entertainment . . . . one of those theatre events you can go on smiling over."

The West Point Players have established a reputation for high quality productions and with "Born Yesterday" promise the public an evening of thoroughly enjoyable entertainment filled with laughter and relaxing fun.

The cast of "Born Yesterday" will include many familiar faces, as well as a few new ones. Among the old timers of the Players will be Lt. Colonel Don Baumer; Lt. Colonel Joe Benson; Capt. Jay Bleiman; and Claude Viollet. Among those making their debut with the Players will be Mrs. Meg Sargent; Major Rod Collins; Major Frank Bolz; Mrs. Pat Brown; Mrs. Dahl Hubbard; and two teen agers, Tom Kurtz and Fred Childs. The play will be directed by Jim Cavan.

A BIRTHDAY PRESENT IN RETURN

Dear Mrs. Post: I received a birthday present from a new friend. I was quite surprised when she came over and handed me a package. I happen to know that she has a birthday coming up very soon and I would like to know if I have to give her a birthday present in return. I really don't want to add any more names to my gift list which is already too long, but would it seem cheap on my part not to give her a present in return on her birthday?

Answer: I am sorry but you are in a situation from which there is no escape—and you will have to give her a present. Before your birthday next year you can say to her, "Please let's not give each other birthday presents this year."

A More Personal Present

Dear Mrs. Post: Our minister's daughter is going to be married soon and the Woman's Guild, of which I am the president, is going to give her a wedding present. I have contributed to this present. I know the minister and his wife very well and have been invited to the wedding and reception. I would like to know if it is necessary for me to send her another present in addition to the one to which I have contributed?

Answer: There is no obligation to give a second present especially if you have contributed a sizable sum to the Guild present. If you gave only a trifling amount toward it and the bride is someone you like very much, you will probably want to give her an additional and more presonal present.

Color of Writing Paper

Dear Mrs. Post: I am about to buy some new stationery. I have always used plain white paper with a monogram. I'm a little tired of this and would like a color for a change. Will you please tell me what colors are considered in best taste?

Answer: All blues and grays are in best taste.

Miss Joan Carputo Appears in Photo Accompanying Story

Miss Joan Carputo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carputo of 134 Broadway, who is a nurse on the staff of Georgetown University Hospital, Washington, D. C., is pictured in a photograph accompanying an article on blood banks which appeared in the March 14th issue of Staurday Evening Post.

The article charges that there consists a condition of waste and commercialism between rival blood-collecting agencies, which get their supply of blood from donors. Some hospitals have charged as much as $125 a pint for blood which they obtained at no cost at all, the article points out.

The photograph in which Miss Carputo appears is that taken during an open-heart operation at Georgetown University Hospital.

Miss Carputo, who was graduated from the Academy of St. Ursula and Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, is assigned to the operating room at the Gergetown Hospital. She joined the hospital staff in October of 1958.

West Point Players Plan Spring Production; To Give Kanin's Play 'Born Yesterday'

The West Point Players, dramatic club of the staff and faculty of the United States Military Academy, announced today that their spring production, "Born Yesterday" will be presented in the Army Theatre at West Point on April 17 and 18 and will be open to the public. Tickets for both the Friday and Saturday performances may be obtained by sending a check to the West Point Players, care of Major M. L. Haskin, Quarters 509-C, West Point. All seats are reserved and will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. Upon request, the West Point Players will be glad to reserve an entire block of seats for any group or organization. Tickets may be purchased also at the box office on the evenings of the performance. Curtain time is set for 8:30 p. m.

"Born Yesterday" was one of the most applauded of Broadway comedies and raised to stardom the now-famous team of Judy Holliday and Paul Douglas. So successful was the play that its author, Garson Kanin, received the Sydney Howard Memorial Award in recognition of its excellence. The play tells the story of a zealous junk dealer who goes to Washington in an effort to win senatorial approval of his scheme to make a few more millions by cornering the market on World War 2 surplus and salvage. In his zeal, he underestimates the intelligence of his blonde, ex-chorus girl friend who, it turns out, wasn't Born Yesterday.

In his review of the Broadway production, Joseph Wood Krutch says. ". . . . the humor is really humor of character, rather than the humor of the wisecrack . . . . genuine freshness, a genuine shrewdness, and a genuine gaiety. . . ." Critic Stark Young says, ". . . . keeps going all through and is very jolly fun, a bright and crackling entertainment . . . . one of those theatre events you can go on smiling over."

The West Point Players have established a reputation for high quality productions and with "Born Yesterday" promise the public an evening of thoroughly enjoyable entertainment filled with laughter and relaxing fun.

The cast of "Born Yesterday" will include many familiar faces, as well as a few new ones. Among the old timers of the Players will be Lt. Colonel Don Baumer; Lt. Colonel Joe Benson; Capt. Jay Bleiman; and Claude Viollet. Among those making their debut with the Players will be Mrs. Meg Sargent; Major Rod Collins; Major Frank Bolz; Mrs. Pat Brown; Mrs. Dahl Hubbard; and two teen agers, Tom Kurtz and Fred Childs. The play will be directed by Jim Cavan.

A BIRTHDAY PRESENT IN RETURN

Dear Mrs. Post: I received a birthday present from a new friend. I was quite surprised when she came over and handed me a package. I happen to know that she has a birthday coming up very soon and I would like to know if I have to give her a birthday present in return. I really don't want to add any more names to my gift list which is already too long, but would it seem cheap on my part not to give her a present in return on her birthday?

Answer: I am sorry but you are in a situation from which there is no escape—and you will have to give her a present. Before your birthday next year you can say to her, "Please let's not give each other birthday presents this year."

A More Personal Present

Dear Mrs. Post: Our minister's daughter is going to be married soon and the Woman's Guild, of which I am the president, is going to give her a wedding present. I have contributed to this present. I know the minister and his wife very well and have been invited to the wedding and reception. I would like to know if it is necessary for me to send her another present in addition to the one to which I have contributed?

Answer: There is no obligation to give a second present especially if you have contributed a sizable sum to the Guild present. If you gave only a trifling amount toward it and the bride is someone you like very much, you will probably want to give her an additional and more presonal present.

Color of Writing Paper

Dear Mrs. Post: I am about to buy some new stationery. I have always used plain white paper with a monogram. I'm a little tired of this and would like a color for a change. Will you please tell me what colors are considered in best taste?

Answer: All blues and grays are in best taste.

E.P., care of The Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Governor Settles For 30 More on Trooper Force

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, who had asked the Legislature to add 250 men to the State Police, today settled for 30 officers and men.

He signed a bill adding five officers to the force. The governor approved Wednesday a measure adding 25 men to the Criminal Intelligence Unit formed last year to battle organized crime.

An inspector, a captain and three staff sergeants are added to the force under the bill signed today. The captaincy will go to Lt. George W. Ashley, head of the State Police Training School at Troy.

Rockefeller originally proposed a $1,250,000 increase in the division's appropriation to add 250 men "in the interests of greater safety on our highways and to strengthen the fight against organized crime."

Rockefeller has made no comment on the specific change but has stated that he agreed to the overall 40-million-dollar cut in his budget.

The governor also signed today a bill adding the daisy, symbol of the Italian-American War Veterans of the United States, to the list of articles that may be sold legally only if the proceeds will go to veterans relief.

Name Is Upheld

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — Atty. F. Ryan Duffy Jr. won his battle to have his name placed on a ballot as candidate for civil judge despite a citizen's contention that a candidate's first name, not his second, be spelled out. More Than 600 Dogs Unlicensed; Issue Warning

More than 600 dogs being harboured by residents of the Town of Saugerties are unlicensed, according to Town Clerk Miss Marion Newkirk.

Miss Newkirk said that 600 names of residents with dogs are on the delinquent list in the town hall.

Residents who no longer own dogs, or require no license due to the age of the dog—younger than six months old—should notify the town clerk by phone or in person as quickly as possible.

Miss Newkirk pointed out that the state will shortly call for the delinquent list. Those who have unlicensed dogs have until that time to secure licenses without penalty.

To avoid the inconvenience of a summons and court action owners with unlicensed dogs should apply as soon as possible, she said.

Governor Settles For 30 More on Trooper Force

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, who had asked the Legislature to add 250 men to the State Police, today settled for 30 officers and men.

He signed a bill adding five officers to the force. The governor approved Wednesday a measure adding 25 men to the Criminal Intelligence Unit formed last year to battle organized crime.

GOP legislative leaders eliminated most of the 250-man request when they trimmed the Republican governor's budget by a total of 40 million dollars.

An inspector, a captain and three staff sergeants are added to the force under the bill signed today. The captaincy will go to Lt. George W. Ashley, head of the State Police Training School at Troy.

Rockefeller originally proposed a $1,250,000 increase in the division's appropriation to add 250 men "in the interests of greater safety on our highways and to strengthen the fight against organized crime."

The budget-cutters eliminated $1,097,500 and provided for additional 25 men instead of 250.

Rockefeller has made no comment on the specific change but has stated that he agreed to the overall 40-million-dollar cut in his budget.

The State Police division now numbers 1,524 men.

The governor also signed today a bill adding the daisy, symbol of the Italian-American War Veterans of the United States, to the list of articles that may be sold legally only if the proceeds will go to veterans relief.

He vetoed a bill that would have established the flower by law as the official symbol of the Italian-American organization.

The governor said the ban on sales would protect that group's sales of artificial daisies to raise money.

More Than 600 Dogs Unlicensed; Issue Warning

More than 600 dogs being harboured by residents of the Town of Saugerties are unlicensed, according to Town Clerk Miss Marion Newkirk.

Miss Newkirk said that 600 names of residents with dogs are on the delinquent list in the town hall.

Residents who no longer own dogs, or require no license due to the age of the dog—younger than six months old—should notify the town clerk by phone or in person as quickly as possible.

Miss Newkirk pointed out that the state will shortly call for the delinquent list. Those who have unlicensed dogs have until that time to secure licenses without penalty.

To avoid the inconvenience of a summons and court action owners with unlicensed dogs should apply as soon as possible, she said.

Pure Bunk, U. S. Steel Head Says Of Wage Dispute

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation's finance committee said today arguments advanced by the United Steelworkers for a billion-dollar wage boost are "pure bunk."

Robert C. Tyson said labor union contentions that a "billion-dollar bundle" would stimulate the nation's purchasing power are an economic falsehood.

"There is no way for the steel union group to get an unearned billion dollars more without others undeservedly getting a billion dollars less," he said in a speech prepared for the New York Chamber of Commerce.

"If one gets more and another gets less, the total is unchanged," he said. "The notion that, by robbin Peter to pay Paul, the real purchasing power of Peter plus Paul will be increased is, in the vernacular, pure bunk."

Tyson's comments came as labor negotiations neared in the steel industry, widely viewed as a keystone in wage-price trends in this country. Current contracts expire June 30.

Four Lose Lives As Plane Burns, Crashes in West

ORTING, Wash. (AP)—Trailing a ribbon of flame, an Air Force transport plane carrying four crewmen crashed and exploded five miles from this western Washington town Wednesday night.

Air Force crews could find no survivors.

Witnesses said the four-engined, military version of the civilian DC6 was afire when it crashed.

There was no explanation of the crash, although Air Force officers said the pilot indicated a collision was at fault. He radioed McChord Air Force Base: "We have hit something, or something has hit us."

Col. Robert E. Booth, commander of the 1705th Air Transport Group to which the C118 was attached, said the pilot said he would attempt to make it back to McChord.

There were no other reports of collision or a near miss.

The Air Force said two of those aboard were Lt. Thomas E. Lasater and Sgt. Guy J. Cunningham, both of Tacoma.

Harris Lopsided Winner, But No Floyd in Sight

By WHITEY SWAYER

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Roy Harris possessed about $5,500, a cut forehead and another victory over Donnie Fleeman today, but his manager didn't think he was any closer to a rematch with World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson.

"I don' tthink so," Lou Viscusi, Harris' manager, laughed when asked whether he thought the one-sided victory brought the Texas heavyweight champion from Cut and Shoot any closer to a rematch with Patterson. Patterson cut Harris to ribbons last year for a TKO.

Previously Viscusi, of Houston, had said he felt if Harris won big it would help him toward a rematch.

Harris won a lop-sided margin over Fleeman, but he had to jab his way to it from behind a mask of blood. Late in the fight Harris landed freely, but was unable to score a knockdown Wednesday night.

A butt in the second round opened a ragged, two-inch cut over Roy's eye. It bled badly until after the seventh, when his seconds stopped the bleeding and Fleeman was unable to hit him and reopen the cut.

Fleeman, 183, of Midlothian, Tex., looked good in the early rounds, especially the second and third, but he faded badly and was a well-beaten fighter by the end of the 12-round, nationally televised bout.

Harris weighed 198.

Hershey Win Is Key Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The game won by the Hershey Bears on Cleveland ice looms large in the scheme of the American Hockey League playoffs for the Calder Cup.

Back on their home ice Wednesday night after breaking even at Cleveland, the Bears took a lead of 2-1 over the Barons in their best-of-seven semifinal playoff with a 2-1 decision. The next game will be played Saturday—also at Hershey.

The Buffalo Bisons, leading 2-0 in the other semifinal, and the Rochester Americans resume their series at Rochester Friday.

All of the goals Wednesday night were scored in a blistering first period which saw eight men sent to the penalty box as the result of rough play. By contrast there were only three minor assessed in the second period and none in the third.

Bob Bailey sent the Barons away in front at 9:15. At 13:18 Larry Zeidel, veteran Hershey defenseman, tied it up with an unassisted goal and at 16:38 Dunc Fisher came through with what proved to be the game winning goal.

Celtics Struggle To Finals

BOSTON (AP) — The mighty Boston Celtics feared only overconfidence against the upstart Minneapolis Lakers today while marking time before their series opener for pro basketball's world championship.

"We figure to beat the Lakers, but we have to guard against overconfidence," warned Bob Cousy, Boston's veteran backcourt magician.

"That's right, chimed in Coach Red Auerbach. "We've taken them easily the past two years and then they didn't figure to upset St. Louis. They have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

The Celtics streaked into a National Basketball Assn. title showdown with Minneapolis by coming from behind for a 130-125 victory over the stubborn Syracuse Nationals Wednesday night in the seventh and deciding game of a torrid Eastern division final series.

The opener of the best-of-seven NBA championship series Saturday afternoon at the Boston Garden will find the Celtics seeking their 19th straight triumph over Minneapolis. The Lakers last defeated the Boston club in the final game of the regular 1956-57 campaign.

A Tough Win

Despite outward attempts to tone down confidence, the Celtics were unanimous in predicting they would regain the NBA crown they won two years ago.

"This is the greatest team ever—it didn't quit, it didn't quit," Auerbach cried happily in the dressing room.

Frank Ramsey topped the Celtics with 28 points with a right fore-finger encased in a cast. Cousy had 25.

The Celtics come-back victory overshadowed a tremendous shooting display by Dolph Schayes and George Yardley. Schayes took individual honors with 35 points, while Yardley contributed 32.

Orioles Give Loes His Wish: Trade to Nats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Billy Loes, who has been asking for it ever since spring training began, finally got his wish. The Baltimore Orioles traded him.

General Manger Lee MacPhail announced Wednesday that the unpredictable Loes has been swapped to Washington for Vito Valentinetti, like Loes a right-handed pitcher.

Loes, who had demanded that the Orioles trade him to the New York Yankees, San Francisco Giants and Cleveland Indians, accepted the news calmly.

Loes sealed his fate by leveling barbed witicisms at Manager Paul Richards and the Orioles earlier this spring. For example he said: "Who ever hear of Richards before he hooked up with me."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Picking the winners of the major league races is like walking a tightrope blindfolded or betting on a colt in the Kentucky Derby winter book. It's a long way to go and in baseball a key trade can be made, a star may be injured and pitchers develop sore arms.

But this is the time of year when all baseball writers worth their salt must stick out their necks so people can throw rocks at them when the last shot is fired, this trip on Sept. 27. That's the risk the handicapper must take, so this is the way one sees the clubs finishing in the fall:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
New York	Pittsburgh
Chicago	San Francisco
Detroit	Milwaukee
Boston	Los Angeles
Cleveland	Cincinnati
Baltimore	St. Louis
Kansas City	Philadelphia
Washington	Chicago

This confirmed longshot stabber would prefer to select some outfit to knock off the Yankees in the American League, but sad experience through the years cured him of that foolish habit. When you can't beat them, join them, and the most ardent follower of any of the supposed challengers can't figure how the Bombers can miss winning their 10th pennant in 11 years.

So we have to switch to the National League for anything in the nature of a race, as usual. Also for anything to encourage a prognosticator to foresee any substantial change.

* * *

THE PIRATES AND GIANTS are the clubs ticketed to stir up excitement, at the outset are rated ahead of the Braves.

There are several reasons why Milwaukee could fail to make it three straight, despite its pitching depth. The Braves could only be close until Red Schoendienst arrived and all of them, starting with Johnny Logan, consider the loss of the second baseman and leader irremedial.

Their poor showing in spring exhibition games could be traced to considerably more than complacency, although it is true that they are no longer hungry. Logan had a bad year at shortstop in 1958, at bat and in the field, and can't be expected to improve with a lesser hand alongside him.

There are knee cases in addition to that of Mel Roach, who had little experience when he filled in at second last season. The most important is that of Wes Covington.

* * *

THE GIANTS SCORED MORE runs than any other club in 1958. Unless enemy pitchers find a blind spot in Andre Rodgers, San Francisco will be even more formidable at the plate. The tall shortstop hit 31 home runs batting .354 for Phoenix. The Giants did not run out of petrol until early August last year, when all the members of a very thin pitching staff got tired at once. This easily could have been remedied by landing Sam Jones and Jack Sanford.

Los Angeles is listed ahead of Cincinnati only because the Dodgers have to be better than they were while lost in the huge Coliseum.

In the American League, Al Lopez still speaks hopefully about the White Sox and trots out an unusually bright outfielding prospect and power hitter in Johnny Callison. The Tigers have a new left side of the infield and a couple more established pitchers in Ray Narleski and Don Mossi. The Red Sox have a fifth thumper in Vic Wertz.

But the Yankees still have too much of everything, including three catchers who can alternate in the outfield. To give you an idea of to what extent the Bombers are loaded, they traded away three of the league's leading home run manufacturers—Jackie Jensen of the Bosox, the Athletics' Bob Cerv and the Orioles' Gus Triandos.

Suppose the Yankees had kept them.

Previously Viscusi, of Houston, had said he felt if Harris won big it would help him toward a rematch.

Harris won a lop-sided margin over Fleeman, but he had to jab his way to it from behind a mask of blood. Late in the fight Harris landed freely, but was unable to score a knockdown Wednesday night.

A butt in the second round opened a ragged, two-inch cut over Roy's eye. It bled badly until after the seventh, when his seconds stopped the bleeding and Fleeman was unable to hit him and reopen the cut.

Fleeman, 183, of Midlothian, Tex., looked good in the early rounds, especially the second and third, but he faded badly and was a well-beaten fighter by the end of the 12-round, nationally televised bout.

Harris weighed 198.

Jerry Oster set a new Sangi Major League high solo mark with 267 last night, eclipsing the 257 rolled by Frank Grimaldi in the very first game of the 1958-59 season. He had other games of 182-188 for 637.

Ed Lukas matched Oster's 267 in the Catholic AA and added other slams of 171 and 178 for 616. Lukas compiled the big solo with a triple and six-bagger.

Hershey Win Is Key Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The game won by the Hershey Bears on Cleveland ice looms large in the scheme of the American Hockey League playoffs for the Calder Cup.

Back on their home ice Wednesday night after breaking even at Cleveland, the Bears took a lead of 2-1 over the Barons in their best-of-seven semifinal playoff with a 2-1 decision. The next game will be played Saturday—also at Hershey.

The Buffalo Bisons, leading 2-0 in the other semifinal, and the Rochester Americans resume their series at Rochester Friday.

All of the goals Wednesday night were scored in a blistering first period which saw eight men sent to the penalty box as the result of rough play. By contrast there were only three minor assessed in the second period and none in the third.

Bob Bailey sent the Barons away in front at 9:15. At 13:18 Larry Zeidel, veteran Hershey defenseman, tied it up with an unassisted goal and at 16:38 Dunc Fisher came through with what proved to be the game winning goal.

Celtics Struggle To Finals

BOSTON (AP) — The mighty Boston Celtics feared only overconfidence against the upstart Minneapolis Lakers today while marking time before their series opener for pro basketball's world championship.

"We figure to beat the Lakers, but we have to guard against overconfidence," warned Bob Cousy, Boston's veteran backcourt magician.

"That's right, chimed in Coach Red Auerbach. "We've taken them easily the past two years and then they didn't figure to upset St. Louis. They have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

The Celtics streaked into a National Basketball Assn. title showdown with Minneapolis by coming from behind for a 130-125 victory over the stubborn Syracuse Nationals Wednesday night in the seventh and deciding game of a torrid Eastern division final series.

The opener of the best-of-seven NBA championship series Saturday afternoon at the Boston Garden will find the Celtics seeking their 19th straight triumph over Minneapolis. The Lakers last defeated the Boston club in the final game of the regular 1956-57 campaign.

A Tough Win

Despite outward attempts to tone down confidence, the Celtics were unanimous in predicting they would regain the NBA crown they won two years ago.

"This is the greatest team ever—it didn't quit, it didn't quit," Auerbach cried happily in the dressing room.

Despite the strong "greatest" tag by their coach, the Celtics had to rally from a 16-point deficit midway through the second period and then outbattle Syracuse in the closing minutes.

Frank Ramsey topped the Celtics with 28 points with a right fore-finger encased in a cast. Cousy had 25.

The Celtics come-back victory overshadowed a tremendous shooting display by Dolph Schayes and George Yardley. Schayes took individual honors with 35 points, while Yardley contributed 32.

Orioles Give Loes His Wish; Trade to Nats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Billy Loes, who has been asking for it ever since spring training began, finally got his wish. The Baltimore Orioles traded him.

General Manger Lee MacPhail announced Wednesday that the unpredictable Loes has been swapped to Washington for Vito Valentinetti, like Loes a right-handed pitcher.

Loes, who had demanded that the Orioles trade him to the New York Yankees, San Francisco Giants and Cleveland Indians, accepted the news calmly.

Loes sealed his fate by leveling barbed witicisms at Manager Paul Richards and the Orioles earlier this spring. For example he said: "Who ever hear of Richards before he hooked up with me."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Picking the winners of the major league races is like walking a tightrope blindfolded or betting on a colt in the Kentucky Derby winter book. It's a long way to go and in baseball a key trade can be made, a star may be injured and pitchers develop sore arms.

But this is the time of year when all baseball writers worth their salt must stick out their necks so people can throw rocks at them when the last shot is fired, this trip on Sept. 27. That's the risk the handicapper must take, so this is the way one sees the clubs finishing in the fall:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
New York	Pittsburgh
Chicago	San Francisco
Detroit	Milwaukee
Boston	Los Angeles
Cleveland	Cincinnati
Baltimore	St. Louis
Kansas City	Philadelphia
Washington	Chicago

This confirmed longshot stabber would prefer to select some outfit to knock off the Yankees in the American League, but sad experience through the years cured him of that foolish habit. When you can't beat them, join them, and the most ardent follower of any of the supposed challengers can't figure how the Bombers can miss winning their 10th pennant in 11 years.

So we have to switch to the National League for anything in the nature of a race, as usual. Also for anything to encourage a prognosticator to foresee any substantial change.

* * *

THE PIRATES AND GIANTS are the clubs ticketed to stir up excitement, at the outset are rated ahead of the Braves.

There are several reasons why Milwaukee could fail to make it three straight, despite its pitching depth. The Braves could only be close until Red Schoendienst arrived and all of them, starting with Johnny Logan, consider the loss of the second baseman and leader irremedial.

Their poor showing in spring exhibition games could be traced to considerably more than complacency, although it is true that they are no longer hungry. Logan had a bad year at shortstop in 1958, at bat and in the field, and can't be expected to improve with a lesser hand alongside him.

There are knee cases in addition to that of Mel Roach, who had little experience when he filled in at second last season. The most important is that of Wes Covington.

Meanwhile, the Pirates, who were moving like a prairie wind during the latter part of last season, have acquired all they needed. They gave Frank Thomas to the Reds for Harvey Haddix, a left-hand pitcher; Don Hoak, an accomplished third baseman; and Smoky Burgess, a left-hand swinging catcher who can hit. On top of it all, Ted Kluszewski is back sound.

* * *

THE GIANTS SCORED MORE runs than any other club in 1958. Unless enemy pitchers find a blind spot in Andre Rodgers, San Francisco will be even more formidable at the plate. The tall shortstop hit 31 home runs batting .354 for Phoenix. The Giants did not run out of petrol until early August last year, when all the members of a very thin pitching staff got tired at once. This easily could have been remedied by landing Sam Jones and Jack Sanford.

Los Angeles is listed ahead of Cincinnati only because the Dodgers have to be better than they were while lost in the huge Coliseum.

In the American League, Al Lopez still speaks hopefully about the White Sox and trots out an unusually bright outfielding prospect and power hitter in Johnny Callison. The Tigers have a new left side of the infield and a couple more established pitchers in Ray Narleski and Don Mossi. The Red Sox have a fifth thumper in Vic Wertz.

But the Yankees still have too much of everything, including three catchers who can alternate in the outfield. To give you an idea of to what extent the Bombers are loaded, they traded away three of the league's leading home run manufacturers—Jackie Jensen of the Bosox, the Athletics' Bob Cerv and the Orioles' Gus Triandos.

Things could be worse.

Jones Bombed in Giant Debut; Cards Put Bill White on First

SIGNS OF SPRING—As sure a sign of spring as the return of the robins is the annual presentation of a season baseball pass to the President. Taking part in ceremony at White House (April 1) are Ike, American League president Joe Cronin and Cronin's son Kevin, 9. The President, after getting a gold pass for himself and a handbag with pass for his wife, gave Kevin a silver dollar and pen as mementoes of his visit. Whether or not the President will throw out the first ball of the season April 9 was left in doubt. (AP Wirephoto)

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first returns are in on last week's controversial Sam Jones-Bill White trade between the St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants. It looks like Card General Manager Bing Devine might not have gotten the bad end after all.

Devine was criticized for giving Jones, his pitching mainstay last season with a 14-13 record, to the Giants for White, who has only little more than a season of major league experience.

Jones, in his first start for Giants manager Bill Rigney since the trade, was blasted for nine hits and 10 runs in four innings Wednesday by the Chicago Cubs who beat the Giants, 10-5. Among the hits were three-run homers by rookie George Altman and Moose Moryn.

Jones, last year's National League strikeout king, walked three and fanned four.

On the other hand, White has made a more favorable impression on Cards manager Solly Hemus — at least until his error paved the way for a five-run New York Yankee ninth inning that gave the world champions a 5-1 victory Wednesday.

Change Is Tonic

Hemus decided before the game to give White the first base job and move Joe Cunningham to right field. White has hit three home runs and batted over .300 since joining the Cards. Cunningham has been hitting under .200 all spring.

In other exhibition games, Cleveland edged Boston 5-4, Los Angeles shutout the Philadelphia Phils 8-0, Cincinnati defeated Washington 6-4, the Chicago White Sox humbled the Milwaukee Braves 8-5, the Kansas City A's won over Detroit 4-3 and Baltimore edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in a 12-inning night game.

Rookie Jerry Casale's wild pitch let in the winning Cleveland run in the eighth inning. The Indians' Herb Score pitched three innings, giving up four runs on homers by Sammy White and Frank Malzone but striking out eight.

Hodges Cracks Homer

Gil Hodges' homer and double and Duke Snider's triple and double powered Los Angeles to its victory while Eddie Kasko's eighth-inning triple sparked the Cincinnati win.

The White Sox routed Joey Jay with a five-run eighth inning in its victory and A's pinchhitter Preston Ward slammed a two run homer in the ninth inning to beat the Tigers.

Dr. Fredericks With Athletics To Check Diets

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Arnold Johnson watched horrified as some members of her husband's baseball team, the Kansas City Athletics, polished off two T-bone steaks and a large slab of strawberry shortcake for breakfast.

"What kind of insane eating is this?" she asked.

Mrs. Johnson hustled off to see Dr. Carlton Fredericks, nationally known nutritionist and health authority. They arranged a meeting with Johnson.

As a result, the Athletics today have a full-time nutritionist on their staff. Proper eating has been added to batting, fielding and throwing as necessary ingredients for a winning team.

Dr. Fredericks, author of four books on nutrition, disclosed today he is dedicated to keeping the A's from committing gastronomical suicide.

He believes that if the K.C. players follow his advice it will help them finish higher than their seventh place American League station of 1958. A better nourished team performs better, he says.

Dr. Fredericks, a veteran radio commentator who for many years has been telling women how to keep thin through proper diet, claims his methods prolong life and improve performance in any field of endeavour.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ...

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — It's common gossip in St. Petersburg that Stan Musial can't possibly do a job in the outfield for the St. Louis Cardinals . . . and must eventually be put back on first base . . . but that's not what The Man says: "I like it out here. I don't want to play first any more. Cunningham's a better first baseman than I am, and I'm a better outfielder than he was." . . .

Was Larry Doby's big salary the reason the Cleveland Indians traded him even up for a player who doesn't figure better than Triple A? . . .

Jim O'Toole

Cincinnati's recruit pitcher Jim O'Toole, the minor league king of 1958, has emblazoned on the fingers of his glove the letters T-H-I-N-K . . . so that when he looks down at the ball that's exactly what he'll do . . . but veteran Brooks Lawrence cautioned him, "Son, that's fine. But just remember. That batter up there, he's thinking too." . . .

Andy Pafko of the Braves saw a big Los Angeles rookie walk by . . . "Who's that?" he asked. . . . "Jim Koranda." (A 6-3, 220-pound outfielder.) . . . "Good gosh, he's big enough to work."

Players call the Pirates' Dick Stuart the Big Bambino . . . after the Babe, of course . . . and even Mickey Mantle was curious enough to ask, "Which one's Stuart?" . . . "Worse thing that happened to me," says the new Stuart, "was when I hit 66 homers" . . . but in the next breath the old Stuart adds, "I wish I'd hit 73. It would've been a new record." . . . About hitting: "I pull everything. Only thing I've done is shorten my swing and put more snap into it." . . .

Visiting the major league camps is Dizzy Trout, the old ptticher, now a Detroit insurance exec. . . . "I worked out this afternoon," bragged Dizzy. . . . "You look fat," he was told. . . . "I'm all swoll up," he answered. . . .

Dodgertown at Vero Beach has Art Fowler, the former Cincy pitcher who worked last summer for Bobby Bragan at Spokane. . . . It was a terrifically hot day and Bragan was tired of hearing the players gripe about the humidity. . . . "Next guy mentions the heat," said Bobby, "gets docked $25." . . . couple of innings later, Fowler, who was pitching, slumped into the dugout dripping sweat. . . . "Man," he wheezed, "it's hot as Hades" . . . and just then noticed Bragan a couple of feet away. . . . hastily added, "Just the way I like it." . . .

California native Del Crandall of the Braves was describing the joys of wintering in snowy Milwaukee. . . . "Beautiful," he said, "wonderful crisp snow. . . . It was terrible." . . .

The player representative stuff is getting to be big business . . . when they met to fire J. Norman Lewis as counsel, Dale Long couldn't be on hand from the Cubs in Arizona because he was too busy fighting for a first base job . . . and his alternate, Moe Drabowsky, had a broken thumb and needed to run to keep in shape . . . so they sent Bobby Adams, an alternate's alternate. . . .

Behind the Lewis dismissal: he soured himself with his 20 per cent of the gross profits demand for the players . . . without keeping the players informed that's what he was going to ask . . . and wouldn't Bob Feller now like to have the job of representing them? . . .

Between you'n'me, indiscriminate use of cortisone injections to deaden the pain of a sore arm is blamed by some pitchers for the rash of ailing flippers the last couple of years. . . .

Palmer Will Seek Rare Repeat in the Masters

By MERCER BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, a muscular young man from Latrobe, Pa., sets out today with hopes of accomplishing something no other golfer has ever done — successfully defend his Masters' title.

Since grand-slam king Bob Jones and Cliff Roberts launched this classic event 25 years ago, some of the biggest names in the game have won it. A few have won it more than once.

But none has been able to tame this demanding 6,980-yard Augusta National course and the talent-rich field two years running.

Thomson is Threat

The top threats in the 10-man foreign field appeared to be Australia's Peter Thomson, who has won four of the past five British Opens; South Africa's Gary Player, who fired a 64 in his final tuneup round, and Spain's Angel Miguel, individual champion of the 1958 Canada Cup matches in Mexico City.

Player, making his third Masters appearance, missed an opportunity to set a course record when he three-putted the final green for a bogy-5 Wednesday.

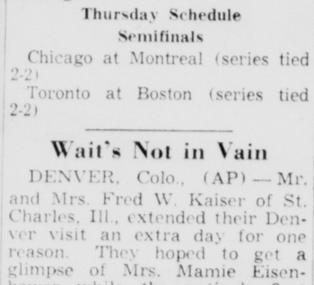

Par for the lush, rolling layout with its mammoth greens is 36-36—72. Lloyd Mangrum set the record at 64 in the opening round of the 1940 Masters. Hogan holds the 72-hole record of 274.

Snead is one of the two men who own three Masters titles. The other is Jimmy Demaret. The slammer hasn't played the circuit this winter but has been unbeatable in a series of head-to-head televised matches with a dozen top pros.

Erdelatz Comes Up With Own Gimmick

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) —Eddie Erdelatz liked the "lonesome end" and "Chinese bandits" ideas of last football season. Now the Navy coach is offering his own gimmick.

The best Navy players will be divided into two teams of equal strength and the two units will relieve one another every seven or eight minutes.

First Returns Are In

Jones Bombed in Giant Debut; Cards Put Bill White on First

SIGNS OF SPRING—As sure a sign of spring as the return of the robins is the annual presentation of a season baseball pass to the President. Taking part in ceremony at White House (April 1) are Ike, American League president Joe Cronin and Cronin's son Kevin, 9. The President, after getting a gold pass for himself and a handbag with pass for his wife, gave Kevin a silver dollar and pen as mementoes of his visit. Whether or not the President will throw out the first ball of the season April 9 was left in doubt. (AP Wirephoto)

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The first returns are in on last week's controversial Sam Jones-Bill White trade between the St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants. It looks like Card General Manager Bing Devine might not have gotten the bad end after all.

Devine was criticized for giving Jones, his pitching mainstay last season with a 14-13 record, to the Giants for White, who has only little more than a season of major league experience.

Jones, in his first start for Giants manager Bill Rigney since the trade, was blasted for nine hits and 10 runs in four innings Wednesday by the Chicago Cubs who beat the Giants, 10-5. Among the hits were three-run homers by rookie George Altman and Moose Moryn.

Jones, last year's National League strikeout king, walked three and fanned four.

On the other hand, White has made a more favorable impression on Cards manager Solly Hemus — at least until his error paved the way for a five-run New York Yankee ninth inning that gave the world champions a 5-1 victory Wednesday.

Change Is Tonic

Hemus decided before the game to give White the first base job and move Joe Cunningham to right field. White has hit three home runs and batted over .300 since joining the Cards. Cunningham has been hitting under .200 all spring.

In other exhibition games, Cleveland edged Boston 5-4, Los Angeles shutout the Philadelphia Phils 8-0, Cincinnati defeated Washington 6-4, the Chicago White Sox humbled the Milwaukee Braves 8-5, the Kansas City A's won over Detroit 4-3 and Baltimore edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 in a 12-inning night game.

Rookie Jerry Casale's wild pitch let in the winning Cleveland run in the eighth inning. The Indians' Herb Score pitched three innings, giving up four runs on homers by Sammy White and Frank Malzone but striking out eight.

Hodges Cracks Homer

Gil Hodges' homer and double and Duke Snider's triple and double powered Los Angeles to its victory while Eddie Kasko's eighth-inning triple sparked the Cincinnati win.

The White Sox routed Joey Jay with a five-run eighth inning in its victory and A's pinchhitter Preston Ward slammed a two run homer in the ninth inning to beat the Tigers.

Dr. Fredericks With Athletics To Check Diets

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mrs. Arnold Johnson watched horrified as some members of her husband's baseball team, the Kansas City Athletics, polished off two T-bone steaks and a large slab of strawberry shortcake for breakfast.

"What kind of insane eating is this?" she asked.

Mrs. Johnson hustled off to see Dr. Carlton Fredericks, nationally known nutritionist and health authority. They arranged a meeting with Johnson.

As a result, the Athletics today have a full-time nutritionist on their staff. Proper eating has been added to batting, fielding and throwing as necessary ingredients for a winning team.

Dr. Fredericks, author of four books on nutrition, disclosed today he is dedicated to keeping the A's from committing gastronomical suicide.

He believes that if the K.C. players follow his advice it will help them finish higher than their seventh place American League station of 1958. A better nourished team performs better, he says.

Dr. Fredericks, a veteran radio commentator who for many years has been telling women how to keep thin through proper diet, claims his methods prolong life and improve performance in any field of endeavour.

Wait's Not in Vain

DENVER, Colo., (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Kaiser of St. Charles, Ill., extended their Denver visit an extra day for one reason. They hoped to get a glimpse of Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower while the nation's first lady was here visiting her mother, Mrs. Elvira Doud. They were unsuccessful. However, Secret Service agents allowed Kaiser to photograph his wife on the steps in front of Mrs. Doud's home.

Windfall

FORT PAYNE, Ala. (AP) — For several months V. I. Prewett Jr. had contemplated tearing down the top section of a large brick smokestack at his hosiery mill. One of the considerations was the cost—$100. A windstorm settled the afair by toppling the chimney at the desired height.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by TITURRAY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (NEA) — It's common gossip in St. Petersburg that Stan Musial can't possibly do a job in the outfield for the St. Louis Cardinals . . . and must eventually be put back on first base . . . but that's not what The Man says: "I like it out here. I don't want to play first any more. Cunningham's a better first baseman than I am, and I'm a better outfielder than he was." . . .

Was Larry Doby's big salary the reason the Cleveland Indians traded him even up for a player who doesn't figure better than Triple A? . . .

* * *

Cincinnati's recruit pitcher Jim O'Toole, the minor league king of 1958, has emblazoned on the fingers of his glove the letters T-H-I-N-K . . . so that when he looks down at the ball that's exactly what he'll do . . . but veteran Brooks Lawrence cautioned him, "Son, that's fine. But just remember. That batter up there, he's thinking too." . . .

Andy Pafko of the Braves saw a big Los Angeles rookie walk by . . . "Who's that?" he asked. . . . "Jim Koranda." (A 6-3, 220-pound outfielder.) . . . "Good gosh, he's big enough to work."

* * *

Players call the Pirates' Dick Stuart the Big Bambino . . . after the Babe, of course . . . and even Mickey Mantle was curious enough to ask, "Which one's Stuart?" . . . "Worse thing that happened to me," says the new Stuart, "was when I hit 66 homers" . . . but in the next breath the old Stuart adds, "I wish I'd hit 73. It would've been a new record." . . . About hitting: "I pull everything. Only thing I've done is shorten my swing and put more snap into it." . . .

Visiting the major league camps is Dizzy Trout, the old ptticher, now a Detroit insurance exec. . . . "I worked out this afternoon," bragged Dizzy. . . . "You look fat," he was told. . . . "I'm all swoll up," he answered. . . .

* * *

Dodgertown at Vero Beach has Art Fowler, the former Cincy pitcher who worked last summer for Bobby Bragan at Spokane. . . . It was a terrifically hot day and Bragan was tired of hearing the players gripe about the humidity. . . . "Next guy mentions the heat," said Bobby, "gets docked $25." . . . couple of innings later, Fowler, who was pitching, slumped into the dugout dripping sweat. . . . "Man," he wheezed, 'it's hot as Hades" . . . and just then noticed Bragan a couple of feet away. . . . hastily added, "Just the way I like it." . . .

California native Del Crandall of the Braves was describing the joys of wintering in snowy Milwaukee. . . . "Beautiful," he said, "wonderful crisp snow. . . . It was terrible." . . .

* * *

The player representative stuff is getting to be big business . . . when they met to fire J. Norman Lewis as counsel, Dale Long couldn't be on hand from the Cubs in Arizona because he was too busy fighting for a first base job . . . and his alternate, Moe Drabowsky, had a broken thumb and needed to run to keep in shape . . . so they sent Bobby Adams, an alternate's alternate. . . .

Behind the Lewis dismissal: he soured himself with his 20 per cent of the gross profits demand for the players . . . without keeping the players informed that's what he was going to ask . . . and wouldn't Bob Feller now like to have the job of representing them? . . .

Between you'n'me, indiscriminate use of cortisone injections to deaden the pain of a sore arm is blamed by some pitchers for the rash of ailing flippers the last couple of years. . . .

Palmer Will Seek Rare Repeat in the Masters

By MERCER BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, a muscular young man from Latrobe, Pa., sets out today with hopes of accomplishing something no other golfer has ever done — successfully defend his Masters' title.

Since grand-slam king Bob Jones and Cliff Roberts launched this classic event 25 years ago, some of the biggest names in the game have won it. A few have won it more than once.

But none has been able to tame this demanding 6,980-yard Augusta National course and the talent-rich field two years running.

Palmer isn't favored to shatter precedent.

Thomson is Threat

The top threats in the 10-man foreign field appeared to be Australia's Peter Thomson, who has won four of the past five British Opens; South Africa's Gary Player, who fired a 64 in his final tuneup round, and Spain's Angel Miguel, individual champion of the 1958 Canada Cup matches in Mexico City.

Player, making his third Masters appearance, missed an opportunity to set a course record when he three-putted the final green for a bogy-5 Wednesday.

Par for the lush, rolling layout with its mammoth greens is 36-36—72. Lloyd Mangrum set the record at 64 in the opening round of the 1940 Masters. Hogan holds the 72-hole record of 274.

Snead is one of the two men who own three Masters titles. The other is Jimmy Demaret. The slammer hasn't played the circuit this winter but has been unbeatable in a series of head-to-head televised matches with a dozen top pros.

Erdelatz Comes Up With Own Gimmick

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) —Eddie Erdelatz liked the "lonesome end" and "Chinese bandits" ideas of last football season. Now the Navy coach is offering his own gimmick.

The best Navy players will be divided into two teams of equal strength and the two units will relieve one another every seven or eight minutes.

One sportswirter has already tabbed it a "22 skidoo" plan.

"The way the game is played today you just can't play it with 11 men," Erdelatz said.

"Next year we'll have a starting team, a replacement team and a second team. (The second team will be used only occasionally or to supply substitutes for injured men on the other units).

FINGER-TIP CONTROL IN SPIN-CASTING

WITH LURE HUNG FROM ROD'S TIP FOR CASTING, HOLD LINE AGAINST SPOOL'S LIP WITH THE INDEX FINGER WHEN BAIL IS OPEN. AS YOU FINISH FORWARD SWING OF A CAST, LIFT FINGER OFF THE LIP TO RELEASE SPIRALLING LINE. IF YOU HAVE CORRECTLY AIMED ABOUT A FOOT OVER THE TARGET, STOP LURE'S FLIGHT BY FINGERING SPOOL AGAIN AS OTHER HAND CRANKS THE BAIL CLOSED TO ENGAGE THE LINE. THIS ELIMINATES SPLASH AS LURE DROPS INTO THE WATER, AND INSTANTLY CONTROLS LINE.

Fun!

She sat on the bridge in the moonlight
And tickled his face with her toes,
For she was a lovely mosquito,
And the bridge was the bridge of his nose.

* * *

He—Why didn't you answer the letter I sent you?

She—Why I didn't get any letter from you. And besides, I didn't like the thing you said in it!

* * *

Genealogist—I've got a pretty distasteful job before me, Mrs. Newrich employed me to look up her family tree, and I've got to inform her that one of her relatives was electrocuted.

Friend — Why worry about that? Just write that the man in question occupied the chair of applied electricity at one of our public institutions.

* * *

Discretion is what comes to man when he is too old for it to do him any good.

* * *

Waiter—How did you find your steak, sir?

Customer—It was just luck. I happened to move a piece of potato, and there it was.

* * *

* * *

Jack—Broken off your engagement to Mary?

Jim—She wouldn't have me.

Jim—Yes. She's my aunt now.

* * *

When a woman is quiet at a committee meeting, don't think she's listening. She's waiting.

* * *

The noblest of all animals is the dog and the noblest of all dogs is the hot dog. It feeds the hand that bites it.

* * *

Suitor—How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her, Bobby?

Bobby—Well, it's a little too small;—she has an awful hard time getting it off when the other fellows call!

* * *

In Akron, Ohio, this safety slogan appeared before Independence Day: "To Be Safe on the Fourth, Don't buy a Fifth on the Third."

* * *

Do not trouble yourself much to get new things, whether clothes or friends. Turn the old; return to them. Things do not change: we change. Sell your clothes and keep your thoughts. God will see that you do not want society.

* * *

The Atlantic Monthly survives to the age of 100, without, as far as we know, ever having run a picture of Zsa Zsa Gabor or Jayne Mansfield.

Interviewer—What have you to say about annoymous letters?

Driver Gets Summons After Mishap on 28

Occupants of two cars escaped injury but one driver was accused of failing to keep to the right as the result of a collision on Route 28 Town of Ulster at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Kingston Trooper Richard Spreen said the cars were operated by Anthony Heinrich, 29, of 63 German Street and Norman Storrs, 33, of 11 Carroll Street, Poughkeepsie.

Troopers said the Heinrich car was stopped, prepared to make a right turn and the car driven by Storrs went to the left side of the highway and the vehicles collided. Storrs was summoned to appear next week before Justice of the Peace Millard Davis, Town of Ulster, on a charge of failing to keep to the right.

Fog Blankets N. Y., Twisters Hit Florida

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy crippling fog blanketed the New York area for the second day today, while tornadoes struck two communities in Florida. The high winds killed one person, injured at least nine others and caused damage estimated at more than a million dollars.

At least two lives were lost as a result of the fog blanket in New York, many airliner flights were canceled, and the near-zero visibility anchored the liner Queen Mary—the world's largest — near the exit to New York Harbor. Idlewild Airport was shut down tight overnight and La Guardia's business was limited to the take-off of eight planes.

Property Damage Heavy

The Florida tornadoes hit Dade City, about 50 miles west of Orlando and Azalea Park, a suburb of Orlando. The sheriff's office reported property damage of one million dollars at Dade City. Many houses and business buildings there were damaged or destroyed and power lines were torn down.

One death was reported at Azalea Park and at least seven were injured. The Weather Bureau warned of further possible damaging winds in south and east central Florida, but added that further twisters were not likely.

April showers, meanwhile, continued to splash areas in the eastern third of the nation and the far Northwest, but fair weather prevailed in the major part of the country.

Plains Storms Ends

The stormy weather which struck the central plains Tuesday and Wednesday ended. Seven persons were killed and 61 others injured in Texas and Oklahoma, hit by tornadoes and severe thunderstorms.

The biggest precipitation belt during the early morning was from Michigan southward across the Ohio Valley into the southern and southeastern sections of the country. Snow fell in parts of Michigan.

Nearly 1½ inches of rain doused Augusta, Ga., and more than one inch fell in West Palm Beach, Fla. and Detroit. Thunderstorms rumbled along the Georgia coast and hail, with strong winds, struck Columbus, Miss., area.

Driver Gets Summons After Mishap on 28

Occupants of two cars escaped injury but one driver was accused of failing to keep to the right as the result of a collision on Route 28 Town of Ulster at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Kingston Trooper Richard Spreen said the cars were operated by Anthony Heinrich, 29, of 63 German Street and Norman Storrs, 33, of 11 Carroll Street, Poughkeepsie.

Troopers said the Heinrich car was stopped, prepared to make a right turn and the car driven by Storrs went to the left side of the highway and the vehicles collided. Storrs was summoned to appear next week before Justice of the Peace Millard Davis, Town of Ulster, on a charge of failing to keep to the right.

Fog Blankets N. Y., Twisters Hit Florida

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A heavy crippling fog blanketed the New York area for the second day today, while tornadoes struck two communities in Florida. The high winds killed one person, injured at least nine others and caused damage estimated at more than a million dollars.

At least two lives were lost as a result of the fog blanket in New York, many airliner flights were canceled, and the near-zero visibility anchored the liner Queen Mary—the world's largest — near the exit to New York Harbor. Idlewild Airport was shut down tight overnight and La Guardia's business was limited to the take-off of eight planes.

Property Damage Heavy

The Florida tornadoes hit Dade City, about 50 miles west of Orlando and Azalea Park, a suburb of Orlando. The sheriff's office reported property damage of one million dollars at Dade City. Many houses and business buildings there were damaged or destroyed and power lines were torn down.

One death was reported at Azalea Park and at least seven were injured. The Weather Bureau warned of further possible damaging winds in south and east central Florida, but added that further twisters were not likely.

April showers, meanwhile, continued to splash areas in the eastern third of the nation and the far Northwest, but fair weather prevailed in the major part of the country.

Plains Storms End

The stormy weather which struck the central plains Tuesday and Wednesday ended. Seven persons were killed and 61 others injured in Texas and Oklahoma, hit by tornadoes and severe thunderstorms.

The biggest precipitation belt during the early morning was from Michigan southward across the Ohio Valley into the southern and southeastern sections of the country. Snow fell in parts of Michigan.

Nearly 1½ inches of rain doused Augusta, Ga., and more than one inch fell in West Palm Beach, Fla. and Detroit. Thunderstorms rumbled along the Georgia coast and hail, with strong winds, struck Columbus, Miss., area.
